Schedule stop at the Santa Fe downtown office. Lindsey and assistants clicking all same as wheels hitting the rail joints—regular precision. Had another visitor too. H. C. Vincent, assistant general passenger agent, terminal Los Angeles. Vincent has been with the Santa Fe over a considerable period. He's married. I won't say how long. My earliest recollection of the Santa Fe was when I would hear someone talk about the Santa Fe trail. Then I had a brother-in-law who worked for the Santa Fe at Dodge City, Kansas, when shooting was on the regular menu. Later on that line reached eastward from Atchison for a Chicago terminal and got it. The line went through Fort Madison when some people thought it was going through Keokuk. I'll bet Vincent has a lot of historical data in the mental storehouse which would make interesting reading, but this is summer vacation time and most passenger agents are too busy supplying information about excursion trips to retrospect with newspaper men who have more time.

Milan Miller is going on vacation and tells me I'll know where when he sends the usual souvenir card. He must be all set for the event, as he didn't ask for postage. He inquired, "Will a card just addressed 'Skinny, git yuh'?" And I tell him it will unless some competition develops in the meantime.

And then to the "current events" plant, but Bacon is out when I am in. So the feat at the switchboard wants to know if we can take the message, and she can't. Why, Rodney, won't hardly be able to take it himself when I get to him. It's something we both forgot and I want to tell him about it so he'll feel as badly as I do. Talk about "miserable lovin' company. I want a whole regiment."

Frank Wolters, federal building custodian, has a detour at the Bush street entrance for your protection. The barricade is sort of zig-zaggy, and looks like an old rail fence, if you use your imagination. I'm glad it is there. You don't have to find out it's fresh paint, unless you are skeptical and stick your finger in it to prove whether Frank is telling the truth about it. If you try it, you'll find out it's not a bed-time story. Later. In fact two days later: Barricade has been removed.

Noticed a few pieces of adhesive tape attached to the pulchritude of our fair city, and an occasional finger bandaged, which supplied some evidence that we have just passed through another grand and glorious Fourth of July.

It sometimes saddens me when I think how many men have lived and died, failures in life just because they didn't happen to meet the right woman. I don't believe my Cousin Clab would amount to anything if he hadn't met the right girl.

It was love at first sight, but she was a strong girl and she told him that she couldn't marry him because he had never made anything of himself and that he spent all his time around pool halls and she says, "When you have made and saved $10,000 come to me and I will marry you."

He went to work in a grocery store and she didn't see him for three months, so finally one day she dropped in, which supplied her with working hard and saving penny and she says, "How close are you to the $10,000?" and he says, "I got $18" and she says, "That's close enough."

Amelia Hunt Shifts South

Planes Will Take Off Late Today From Warship to Search Ocean in Vicinity of Howland Island For Fliers; No New Radio Signals Received

HONOLULU. (AP)—Navy ships and planes, coordinating efforts in the vast hunt for Amelia Earhart, aimed today at a new region in the South Pacific waters where growing belief and some facts indicated the missing aviatix may be marooned. Five discouraging days of scanning the immense area north-north-east of bleak Howland Island, which the aviatix missed last Friday, turned the search to the corresponding area centered south-south-east of Howland, where 280 miles away lie the Phoenix Islands.

The coast guard cutter Itasca and navy mine sweeper Swan have searched more than 104,000 square miles north of Howland without sighting a trace of the missing plane.

LARGE AREA SEARCHED

The Itasca methodically scanned an area 300 nautical miles in each direction while the Swan covered a strip 15 miles wide by 240 miles long.

Reports early today indicated good weather would be experienced throughout the day in the Howland vicinity. The refueling and replenishing of the Itasca's water supply were expected to start as soon as the cutter was contacted by the battleship Colorado, and be completed in about seven hours.

PLANES SEARCH TODAY

The Colorado, speeding toward meeting with Itasca, planned to release its three deck planes late today for the first aerial search of the area which holds the fate of Miss Earhart and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonan.

More aid from the air was expected over the week-end from the giant aircraft carrier Lexington, speeding from California.

REBELS LOSE MADRID SECTOR

MADRID. (AP)—The ministry of defense announced late today the capture of an insurgent artillery section, occupation of the town of Villa Nueva de la Canada and the death of the insurgent commander in the battle area west of Madrid.

A communique said a large quantity of ammunition was captured along with 100 prisoners, among them an artillery captain.

Spanish government troops pushed ahead in one of the heaviest offensives in the history of the civil war today to shatter insurgent lines on the western side of Madrid.

Military sources at Irún confirmed government dispatches that insurgent lines in South Escorial had been broken in terrific fighting. Government commanders threw 25,000 men against insurgent General Francisco Franco's forces in the vicinity of Navacerrero, his main supply base and concentration point.

Pastor's Wedding Idea 'Clicks'

A New York minister had an idea about Santa Ana—and it clicked.

Result—this city has a wedding chapel which is helping it to regain its title as the Southland's Gretna Green—and the minister has a thriving business.

He's collected fees from more than 2000 couples in the last two years, for marrying them. The cost is three dollars and up. Most couples pick one of the higher-priced ceremonies. Up to $40.

The notion the New York minister had was about how a girl likes to get married. That required the wedding chapel—the wedding chapel of the Universal Christian church on North Main street, conducted by the Rev. Earl C. Bloss.

GOOD REASONS

In his flower-bedecked little hall more couples have vowed, "I do" in these past two years than in any place in Santa Ana. Many more than 2000.

And there's a reason—several reasons. All of them are embodied in that notion the Rev. Mr. Bloss had back in 1935.

The main one is based upon an idealistic attitude toward a marriage ceremony. From early childhood, the Rev. Mr. Bloss believed, a girl learns to think of marriage

Worn by Grief

The week which began with discovery of the ravished bodies of two of her little daughters and of a playmate and ended with the alleged confession of the triple slaying by Albert Dyer left Mrs. Merle O. Everett a woman weary with grief. This picture shows her at her home in Inglewood, Calif.

Wheeler Bares Court Warning

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) told the senate today the administration's court plan has been suggested to him a year ago by "two men close to the President." He said he had warned them not to take it into the political campaign because it would "wreck the President."

Wheeler, an opponent of court reorganization, made the assertion after Senator Logan (D., Ky.) a supporter, told the senate some opponents of the administration were using the court issue to "destroy" the President.

PATROL JOINS WAR ON SPEED

Pointing to the heavy flow of drunken and reckless drivers into Orange county courts, Captain Henry Meehan of the California highway patrol, today announced that his men would join with the entire state force in "tightening up on speeders, reckless and drunken drivers."

Similar orders have been issued by Chief E. Raymond Cato and endorsed by Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

SHOTS HURT 16 IN STRIKE RIOT

ALCOA, Tenn. (AP)—At least 14 strikers and two policemen were shot and wounded today in a clash between officers and several hundred pickets at the gates of the Alcoa plant of the Aluminum Company of America as it re-opened after a seven-week strike.

Authorities at nearby Maryville hospital said two or three were in a serious condition. Most of the men were shot in the arms, legs and back.

A squad of 25 or 30 officers, led by Chief of Police A. L. Lively, drove up and there was a brief clash with policemen using their clubs and pickets wielding homemade clubs.

TOWNSEND GROUP BACKS LEGISLATOR

District Pension Chief Lashed at Fiery Meet

Congressman Harry Sheppard leveled his biggest guns full in the face of Townsend District Organizer Jack Walsh last night and let fire.

When the smoke cleared away, that local personage stood condemned as the "leader of a backstabbing crew" and 500 Anaheim Townsends walked out of their Greek theater with Harry R. Sheppard once more in their good graces.

Walsh has been outspoken in his opposition to Sheppard since the latter's break with Dr. F. E. Townsend over the supreme court reorganization plan.

The nineteenth district representative stepped up in front of a mass meeting in Anaheim, hoarse from delivering 31 speeches in the last two weeks in an attempt to clear his name of the charge of "deserting" Dr. Townsend, and left the open-air auditorium considerably hoarse, but with his name as clear as the white suit he wore, in the eyes of the throng that applauded him.

And they did applaud him—on an average of once every 200 words.

STEEL IS MADE UNDER GUARD

CLEVELAND. (AP)—Republic Steel corporation plants here hummed today under national guard bayonets as Lee Pressman, general counsel for CIO steel strikers, charged that "a state of brutal terrorism" prevails on the Ohio strike front.

"New steel by Friday," predicted Republic plant officials.

Smoke streamed from three Republic units after the last of a series of back-to-work thrusts in defiance of John L. Lewis' cohorts.

SEES END OF LEWIS

Pickets were limited to 12 at each plant gate. Nearly 1000 troops were here to preserve order.

"This is the beginning of the end of John L. Lewis," said H. G. Ellison, a Republic superintendent. "They'll never get these men out on strike again."

Replied B. J. Banich, field director of the CIO-affiliated Steel Workers Organizing Committee: "The attempt to reopen Republic was a complete failure. When the public realizes only the foremen and bosses are in the plants it will insist that the military be withdrawn."

CHARGES TERRORISM

Pressman, at Canton, O., asserted in a formal statement that the Ohio National guard "has made itself a veritable army of occupation" in the Ohio sector of the seven-state strike, launched May 26 for signed bargaining contracts.

"Men, women and children have been beaten, homes raided and searched," declares Pressman.

Unionist Tells Of Ford Plant Attack

DETROIT. (AP)—Walter Reuther testified today he was "slugged on the back of the head" and "pushed and kicked" down a concrete stairway when United Automobile Workers organizers went to the Ford Company's Dearborn plant May 26 to distribute union literature.

Reuther, president of the U. A. W. A. West Side local, was the first union member to tell his story of the riot before a national labor relations board hearing on a complaint charging the Ford Company with unfair labor practices.

Inspectors Say Hearing Will Reveal Methods Used to Avoid Standardization Laws; Condemnation Order Demanded

Midnight packing of asserted frost-sick valencia oranges today brought on superior court action in a case filed against two Anaheim packing associations, officials and growers.

State Inspector Joe Hightower of the department of agriculture filed petition in superior court, seeking a court order to condemn 928 packed boxes of valencias in the Western Fruit Growers house at Anaheim.

KILLER HEADS FOR S. A. TO FACE TRIAL

Gilbert Collie Nabbed As He Leaves Prison

The gates of San Quentin prison today opened to Gilbert Francis Collie and he walked out into the waiting handcuffs of two Orange peace officers.

Collie is to be brought back to Santa Ana to be tried for the attack and burning to death of George Walker in 1931 in Carbon canyon.

Tomorrow, when Sheriff Logan Jackson and Chief Criminal Deputy Merle Dean return with the once-convicted murderer, he will be rushed into court, where District Attorney W. F. Merriam will stand waiting to demand the death penalty.

A. L. ALL-STARS TRIUMPH, 8-3

GRIFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON. (AP)—The big guns of the World Champion Yankees, paced by Larrupin Lou Gehrig, swept the Americans to an easy 8-to-3 victory today over the Nationals in the fifth annual all-star game, played in sweltering heat before President Roosevelt and a capacity crowd, including 31,391 cash customers.

It was the Americans' fourth triumph.

EDUCATOR DIES

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Joseph W. Makok, 84, former president of Hillsdale college and of the University of South Dakota, died at his home here today. He was president of the general Free Baptist assembly from 1904 until his death.

Ranger Wins Yacht Trial

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—Ranger, Harold S. Vanderbilt's undefeated defender of the America's Cup, today came home five minutes ahead of Chandler Hovey's Rainbow in the first of a series of four races. Yankee, Gerard B. Lambert's entry, was far astern.

Vote on 3rd Term—

Do you believe that President Franklin D. Roosevelt should be re-elected for a third term?

Mr. Roosevelt has not made it clear whether or not he will seek another term and thus break a presidential tradition inaugurated a century and a half ago by George Washington.

Many ardent New Dealers favor putting F. D. R. back in the White House for another four years after the present four have ended.

What do you think about it? Mark your vote on the ballot below and send, mail or bring it to The Santa Ana Journal, Straw Ballot Editor, 117 East Fifth street. Help record public sentiment in Orange county.

ASSOCIATED TO BE REBUILT

Reorganization Plan Revised by Board

The revamping plan for the Associated Chambers of Commerce is to be revamped itself.

This development came to light today following a meeting of the board of directors of the organization last night at the Santa Ana chamber of commerce office.

Revision of the plan for reorganization launched recently will be one of the body's major objectives. Ross Shafer of Tustin was named to head the organization committee appointed by President Jack Crill of Garden Grove.

OTHER MEMBERS

Other members on the committee are W. E. Baker, Santa Ana; Harry May, Fullerton; W. D. Johnson, Orange; A. W. McBride and O. T. Stephens, La Habra; R. D. Flaherty, Santa Ana; Bill Queale, Fullerton, and Floyd McCracken, Anaheim.

"It seems advisable to get the organization into a little more effective form and to make it more responsive," Crill explained. He suggested that the committee investigate similar organizations in other counties, selecting from each the best features to be incorporated into a new plan for Orange county.

BACK WATER PLAN

Sentiment at the directors' meeting favored a broader membership than has prevailed in the past. Thus far the Associated has carried on as a group purporting to represent each chamber of commerce in the county. The plan has not always permitted effective action, Crill feels.

Directors agreed to offer their support to the committee directing the campaign for the county flood control and water conservation bonds to be voted upon July 27.

They approved Huntington Beach as the next meeting place, advanced the date one week to July 20, and voted to invite the citizens' water committee to present the program. The South Coast association will be invited to meet with the Associated.

HITLER PAPER RAPS BINGHAM

BERLIN. (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, today attacked Robert W. Bingham, United States ambassador to London, for his independence day speech on despots and dictatorships.

The diplomat's speech to the American society in London was characterized here as an "arrogant and ignorant" attempt to tell foreign nations how to manage their own affairs.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, New York, who spoke at the same affair, was sarcastically referred to in passing as a "pompous disclaimer of the high ideals of the American declaration of independence. These same ideals, Hitler's paper observed, "were fought against with fire and sword by the England of that day."

Der Fuehrer's paper reserved its bitterest ink for Ambassador Bingham.

Bingham told the American society "despots have forced America and Britain to undertake rearmament and, having undertaken it, we must necessarily win the rearmament race."

(Bingham's only comment in London on the Nazi attacks was "I had my say last night and have nothing more to add.") over the bodies of his victims and prayed for them, the district attorney said.

RICE MAY DEFEND HIM

The jury, deliberating only a few minutes, voted the indictments 48 hours after Pitts announced Dyer had confessed.

Peter Rice, attorney, said last night that friends of the defendant had asked him to defend Dyer.

Pitts commented: "I'm glad to hear that. My office wants this man to have the best legal advice possible because we're going to hang him."

Effective next month, criminals will be put to death by lethal gas instead of on the gallows in California.

Lewis Wants All Seamen in C. I. O.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—John L. Lewis conferred today with leaders of 23 maritime labor organizations in a move to unite all maritime crafts under the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Lewis said the conference would discuss every angle necessary for "complete organization of workers in the entire maritime industry and work out policies for the cooperation of all interested groups with the C. I. O."

biased in denying workmen and farmers their fundamental legal rights."

Speaking extemporaneously, Logan mixed in frequent hot exchanges with Wheeler and it was during one of these that the Montanan made his statement about having learned of the court plan a year ago.

Wheeler did not name his informants, but said he told them the bill was "wrong."

FEARED F. D. R. ATTACK

"I said," he added, "don't take this issue into the campaign because it will wreck the President and I don't want to see that done."

"I don't want it done now," he continued.

Logan, former judge, told his colleagues that "worshippers of the golden calf" were using the judiciary committee's adverse report on the court bill as a basis for the organization of a new party.

"VIOLENT DOCUMENT"

Logan attacked the spirit of the judiciary committee report, saying there had been nothing in the proceedings of the committee indicating that the report would be a "violent document" attacking the President.

"If the statements in that report are true," Logan said, "if they are established, the President ought to be impeached and removed. And yet we are told there was no charge against the President in the report."

Another big crowd was in the galleries for today's debate, but many of the senators, especially the Republicans, were absent. Some of them had left early for the all-star baseball game.

WAR-TIME BLAST DEBT REJECTED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The German-American mixed claims commission by unanimous agreement dismissed today a motion of the United States for an award of $22,000,000 to claimants who suffered losses in war-time fires and explosions, including the disasters at Black Tom and Kingsland, N. J.

The motion was made by Robert H. Bonyne, the American agent. It was opposed by Dr. Richard Paulig, third secretary of the German embassy and agent of the German government.

The American motion was based upon an agreement entered into last summer at Munich by agents of both governments, including Bonyne, but not Dr. Paulig.

The latter refused to sign the pact for compromise of the $50,000,000 claims. Today he opposed granting of the American motion on the ground the agreement was not valid without his signature.

After listening to arguments the German and American commissioners and Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts, the umpire, decided to dismiss the American proposal. The commission then recessed until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Italian Charges Anger British

LONDON. (AP)—The British government today instructed its ambassador to Italy to make "representations" to the Italian government against Italian press statements that volunteers, arms, ammunition and airplanes had been sent to Spain from Great Britain.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden directed the ambassador, Sir Eric Drummond, to act.

Today Eden appeared before the house of commons and declared Britain had no intention of offering new proposals for Europe's "hands off Spain" policy at a non-intervention meeting on Friday.

He added he would have something to say about Britain's action after Friday's 27-nation non-intervention committee meeting.

THINK AMELIA ON CORAL REEF

toward a refueling at Lahaina Roads, Hawaii, where she was expected by 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Another dash southward of more than 1500 miles lay ahead of the Lexington before she could send her brood of 57 planes into an aerial search for the missing round-the-world fliers.

THINK SHE'S ON REEF

Shifting of the search to the south of Howland followed suggestions from coast guard officials in San Francisco, who conferred with Miss Earhart's husband, George Palmer Putnam, a growling belief among other searching agencies, and a check of the last available radio messages while the ill-fated plane was in the air.

Officials agreed that Miss Earhart, if she sent any of the maze of unexplained radio distress signals which have spurred the search five days, must be marooned on land or on a reef above water, because her radio would not operate otherwise.

NO LAND NORTH

North of Howland, there is neither known land nor reef for hundreds of miles, but to the south and east is an area dotted with tiny isles and some reefs, beginning as close as 100 miles.

The cutter Itasca reported a portable radio direction finder set up on Howland island had obtained bearings on final messages from the Earhart plane while it was in the air indicating it either was north northeast of Howland or south southeast.

As the search locale shifted, the navy took over its direction in order to keep all efforts coordinated.

UNDER NAVY COMMAND

Coordination of the search meant that the Itasca, Colorado, Lexington, three destroyers and the mine sweeper Swan would be under one command. The Swan, which can make only eight knots, was proceeding toward the Phoenix islands, but had more than 500 miles to go.

Expressing appreciation of the work of the navy and coast guard, Putnam said:

"They have done everything possible, and I am grateful for their extensive efforts." He made a tentative reservation today on the Philippine Clipper scheduled to leave for Honolulu at 3 p. m.

Bomb Damages Priest's Home

PONCE, Puerto Rico. (AP)—A bomb exploded yesterday at the residence of the Rev. Father Aguilera, destroying part of the building, library and furnishings.

Eighteen persons were killed in a clash at Ponce last March 21; Palm Sunday, between nationalists and militant advocates of independence from the United States, and police. Bombs since have exploded against the editor's office of the newspaper El Imparcial at San Juan and at the home of a Ponce bank manager.

CRASH KILLS OIL MAN

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—Arend Steenblock, 40, Sumatra oil man, was killed in a highway crash last night when his automobile blew a tire. Steenblock's companion, Captain George Kooper, 47, army aviator of Dutch Guiana, suffered several fractured ribs and severe cuts and bruises.

SHEPPARD'S TALK CHEERED

onto the platform just after the collection had been taken up. In spite of that he was given a standing ovation before he uttered a word. He was "going to tell 'em," and Townsend Anaheim was willing to be told.

Sheppard's speech was one of attack and explanation. His attack was pointed. The object was J. H. Walsh.

Though he didn't make good his Sunday threat to saw off the limb he said he had Walsh on, he stood on the ground under the limb and fired numerous missiles.

SPENT $11,000

To the charge that he was attempting to take over the Townsend organization he answered:

"Why I've spent $11,000 of my own money for this program. What in the hell has Jack Walsh done?"

Walsh complains about the $15 I paid him during my campaign and says I piled him up in a wreck that landed him in the hospital with a lot of Mexicans. Well, that $15 was more than I paid anybody else, and if I piled him up, I didn't do a good enough job. He wasn't in the hospital long enough."

Cut off Walsh's salary, Sheppard said, and he wouldn't be a Townsendite 30 days later.

NO APOLOGIES

Even when explaining that the only way to achieve Townsend objectives is to get the general welfare act through congress, Sheppard couldn't forget his new-found enemy.

"We can get that plan through back there, but Walsh can belch all the gas off his stomach and he can't do it."

"It may be strong language I'm using," he declared, "but I have no apologies to offer."

Jack Walsh hollers about a dictator the White House. What do you think Walsh is trying to do here?"

Sheppard's explanations were equally pointed.

First he explained that he was neither for nor against the Orange county water bond issue, but that it would be necessary for that vote to pass before they could get out of congress.

BACKS ROOSEVELT

Then he launched into an explanation of his political position.

"You folks know what my attitude toward President Roosevelt was in the campaign for my election and you know it hasn't changed," he said, reading a clipping that proved as much.

And the congressman, who was accused of warring with Dr. Townsend over the supreme court bill, explained that he could not possibly have taken a stand on that bill because it hadn't come out of committee yet and he hadn't had a chance to read it.

"I won't commit myself on a piece of legislation I don't know a cock-eyed thing about," he declared.

"When I can get it out and read it, then I'll let you know how I am going to vote on it."

POT SHOTS

Apparently feeling that it was necessary to defend his return to California to quench the fire that had blazed up about him, he asked:

"Wouldn't it be much easier when the heat was turned on to fold my hands back in Washington, instead of sticking out my chin and letting Walsh and his snipers take pot shots at me when my back was turned?"

Applause said "yes."

Sheppard laid down the law about Townsend legislation.

"I said I was going back there and fight for your legislation, didn't I?" he demanded.

ICE-HOUSE

"Yes," 500 pairs of hands patted back again.

He then explained how he had fought for the general welfare act, which is essentially the Townsend principle, and how it had been sent into the "ice-house."

Next he explained how he was fighting to get a petition signed that would bring the bill to the floor of the house.

Blame for Dr. Townsend's utterances, which stated that he thought the supreme court issue more important than the pension act, Sheppard placed on "burglars around Dr. Townsend whom he has been rash enough to listen to."

HITS NEWSPAPERS

"I didn't tell you I would follow Dr. Townsend like a blind ox," he said. "I said I would fight for that legislation, and that's what I'm doing. I have no fight with Doc Townsend. He has my respect. But when he gets a lot of burglars around him, and listens to them, I'm through."

Newspapers were blamed for the report that Sheppard was out to succeed Dr. Townsend. "Why, I wouldn't take a Townsend job with diamonds on it," he exploded.

PAPERS NOT FOR SALE

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The Omaha Bee-News yesterday published an announcement from William Randolph Hearst, publisher of the paper, saying in part: "The Omaha Bee-News has not been sold and is not for sale. Rumors have been circulated concerning the Omaha Bee-News and the Chicago Herald and Examiner. These rumors are unwarranted."

Hall Hired for Airing Walsh Slander Charges

Justice D. J. Dodge of Newport township "hired a hall" today.

It will require a hall, the judge remarked, to take care of the large number of witnesses and Townsendites who will appear tomorrow at 10 a. m. when J. H. Walsh, local Townsend organizer, comes into court for preliminary hearing on slander charges.

At least 50 witnesses have been subpoenaed by the prosecution, Judge Dodge said, and Walsh already had demanded a large hall, saying he would pack it with Townsendites.

Walsh was arrested and released on his own recognizance after A. P. Nelson, who opposed Townsend Candidate Harry Sheppard for congress, signed a slander complaint against the organizer. He charged Walsh declared in Costa Mesa speech: "And now A. P. Nelson has turned crooked."

Tomorrow's preliminary hearing will be in Greener's hall at Costa Mesa, Justice Dodge said today.

FIGHT PAROLE FOR KILLER

a court order brought about by Sheriff Jackson, who determined to prosecute the man when he received word that he would be eligible for parole in 1939.

Colie was once sentenced to death after the trial for the murder of Dale Slater five years ago in San Bernardino county. His sentence was commuted to life by Governor Rolph. At that time it was deemed unnecessary to have another trial and bring him to Orange county to answer to the charge of Walker's murder.

TO FIGHT PAROLE

Rumor has been started that efforts will be made to prevent Colie from pleading guilty. Orange county officials who assertedly listened to his confession of the brutal killing of Walker in Carbon canyon are not willing to take a chance on his being paroled. A guilty plea would increase his chances of getting a life sentence or parole.

Sheriff Jackson has assembled a stack of evidence which, he believes, certainly will lead to Colie's conviction.

Jackson and Dean are scheduled to return either tonight or early tomorrow.

AL SMITH AIDE DIES

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—George D. Graves, 61, secretary to Alfred E. Smith when the latter was governor of New York, died today.

Graves, a lifelong Republican, retired from state service when Governor Smith completed his fourth term in 1928, after 36 years' experience under 14 governors.

However, I did appreciate the spirit of the little fellow, as he expressed his disapproval of "mamma's" conduct by striking back with his little hand. About fifteen years from now I'll bet mamma won't repeat the performance, and I'm in favor of respecting parental authority—when it doesn't go beyond the point of common sense.

Picking out pin-point landings in the Pacific ocean isn't my idea of safety. I hope the intrepid Amelia is safe on one of them, but it's a tough spot to spend any part of the summer. I'm quite content if they land me at the curb. From there on in I've always been able to get the front door unlocked.

Johnny Johnson is in from the vicinity of Amboy and Ludlow. He's engaged in mining about seven miles distant from the Santa Fe right of way. Lots of gold out there and John wants to get some of it. Hope he does. He will bring some of it to Santa Ana and that will help business. Just now the heat is mixing with the gold, and Amboy and Ludlow are good places to be from. Went through those places some fifteen years ago when the roads didn't deserve the name. Never did have any desire to repeat the experience, although tourists now tell me it is not such a tough trip, but admit it is still hot.

Belgian Winner Of Balloon Race

BRUSSELS. (AP)—Ernest de Muyter, Belgian balloonist, yesterday was officially declared winner of the Gordon Bennett balloon race, having covered 872 miles in the flight from Brussels last month. He previously had won the race three times.

Hanfstaengl Wins Libel Damages In London Court

LONDON. (AP)—Dr. Ernest F. S. Hanfstaengl, former personal aide to Adolf Hitler, today sharply criticized Gen. Erich Ludendorff, who has "made up" with the Fuehrer after long friction, for the general's prophecy of "the disintegration of the British empire."

The Harvard-educated "Putzi" made a brief appearance in court to clear his name of an allegation he had been forced to leave Germany. He ended his libel suit against the British magazine "Cavalade" with high praise for British justice—and criticism for Ludendorff.

Hanfstaengl was awarded $1350 damages and heavy costs against the publication for stating in its March 27 issue, that, in effect, he had been forced to leave Germany.

WOMAN HELD AS KIDNAPER

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Loretta Grabowski, 21, was held without bail for grand jury action yesterday when she was arraigned in police court on a charge of kidnapping 3-year-old Bella McCarthy, whom she met in a park Saturday.

Police Inspector Daniel Kiely said the woman, estranged from her husband, was suffering from "mother frustration."

Ickes Living In Office Suite

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Ickes, prevented by recent illness from making daily 20-mile trips between the city and his farm home, set up temporary living quarters today in his office suite in the interior department.

The secretary of the interior was at his desk yesterday for the first time since he went to Naval Hospital about a month ago for treatment of a stomach ailment.

CHUM'S SLAYER TELLS DEFENSE

COUSHATTA, La. (AP)—Comely Jessie Pepper met with a plea of self-defense today the murder charge that followed the "gossip" killing of May Elvin Allen, her chum.

The 17-year-old high school graduate calmly told a coroner's jury last night that she shot her friend during a cow pasture quarrel Monday only after she had been attacked by Elvin and the dead girl's mother.

The jury found that the Allen girl, also 17, "came to her death by gun wounds at the hands of R. Jessie Pepper."

H. H. Allen, father of the victim, swore out warrants charging Jessi with murder and her mother, Minnie Pepper, with "lying in wait to murder."

"The reason I shot was Mrs. Allen and her daughter were both coming on me at the same time and both were larger than me," said Jessie.

Mrs. Allen testified Jessie "had been telling lies on Elvin."

She (Elvin) spent a month with her uncle Bill in Vivian. She (Jessie) told that Elvin had a baby while up there."

L. A. Placard Law Repealed

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The recently enacted Los Angeles county placard ordinance was repealed yesterday. The ordinance was designed to discourage public address systems on county highways from using derogatory remarks against persons. Labor leaders interpreted it as an anti-picketing ordinance, and on their protests against it the supervisors voted its repeal.

REV. ARCHER TO LEAVE S. A.

Takes Pastorate At San Bernardino

The Rev. Francis Benton of West Los Angeles will replace the Rev. Ellsworth Archer as pastor of the First Free Methodist church here beginning this Sunday.

Announcement of the transfer was made during the annual 10-day conference and camp meeting of the church, which was held in Highland Park and closed Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Archer will leave for San Bernardino today, where he will fill the pulpit of the Free Methodist church there.

The Rev. Mr. Benton will move to Santa Ana this week and will preach his first sermon in the local Free Methodist church, Fruit and Minter streets, at 11 a. m. Sunday. He will make his home in the parsonage, 708 Minter street.

Mrs. Archer and her mother, Mrs. E. L. MacGeary, will accompany the Rev. Mr. Archer to San Bernardino, where they will make their home in the parsonage, 225 H street.

Theodore J. Van de Kamp, above, has just been chosen president of the California Chain Stores Association.

Theodore J. Van de Kamp of Los Angeles, head of 131 food stores that bear his last name has just been unanimously chosen president of the California Chain Stores Association. The association consists of fifty-six member chains with more than 3500 retail outlets. In his acceptance, Van de Kamp made his basic commitment to devote his energies to the raising of the general standard of living in California. He said: "Consumer interest must be the major consideration. This is the antidote for the evil practices that would levy discriminatory taxes and thus raise prices on the everyday necessities and thereby lower the standards of living. Our preservation and fostering of methods of distributing which are demonstrably in the public interest."

"It is in the public interest to oppose the use of agricultural products as loss leaders; to maintain proper working conditions for retail abuses in distribution. Van de Kamp paid a tribute to William M. Berg, head of the Owl Drug retiring president.

SMITH FINDS NO FROZEN FRUIT

"California oranges that we bought in Oklahoma last month were not frozen."

This was the announcement today of Santa Ana Councilman Joseph Smith after a month's stay in the Middle Western state. "The only catch," Smith continued, "is that you have to pay 50 to 60 cents a dozen to get fruit that is not frozen."

Smith could not say whether the oranges were from this district, but identified them as California fruit.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith made the trip last month and returned yesterday. On the way to visit relatives in the councilman's home town they stopped at Grand Canyon, the Petrified forest, Santa Fe, N. M., Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

Smith, making a business trip, attended the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of his home town, Purcell.

On the return trip Mr. and Mrs. Smith attended the Texas Centennial exposition. They also explored the Carlsbad caverns in New Mexico.

Smith characterized the oil business in the Oklahoma region as "flourishing" and declared that conditions in that sector seemed to be returning to normal. Crop outlooks for wheat, corn and cotton were promising, he said.

Cause of Girl's Death Is Puzzle

An inquest over the death of Florence, 18-year-old Los Angeles girl, killed in an automobile crash near Laguna Beach last Saturday, yesterday failed to reveal the cause of the accident.

A coroner's jury, meeting in the Laguna Beach funeral home, found that the evidence presented was not sufficient to determine the cause of the wreck.

The accident occurred early in the morning and there were no witnesses. Clifford Earl Fowler of Los Angeles, who was critically injured in the accident, today was reported to be recovering in the county hospital.

Court Notes

The late Mattie S. Griffith, who died last Feb. 13, left an estate valued at $25,720.45, according to an appraisal filed today by Inheritance Tax Appraiser Howard Irwin. The estate includes 303 shares of Southern California Edison company stock and bonds, and cash.

Claud S. Minter has petitioned superior court for letters of administration in the estate of Eleanor S. Minter, who died May 23. He estimates the value of the estate, consisting of automobiles and personal property, at $1500.

Hattie M. Wilson has petitioned superior court to terminate the joint tenancy of B. J. Wilson, who died April 30, 1936, in Orange county real estate.

Clare E. McGraw today had been granted special letters of administration in the estate of Sidney A. McGraw, Anaheim auto dealer who died July 1. Mrs. McGraw asked for the special letters so she might carry on her late husband's auto agency, and Superior Judge G. K. Scovel granted the petition yesterday.

AWAIT ATTACK ON HOG FARM

Irate residents of Talbert, who don't like the neighboring hog ranch, were waiting today for action by District Attorney W. F. Menton.

Menton was preparing a complaint to be filed against the Land N. Feeding corporation which operates the hog ranch. The complaint, when it is filed, will result in another arrest in the famous hog ranch controversy. The arrest will be under county ordinance 351, which regulates land use.

Menton's complaint will charge that the ranch is within 500 feet of a dwelling, in violation of the land use law, and will pave the way for a court test of that ordinance.

The supervisors' ordinance regulating hog ranches was thrown out two weeks ago by the Fourth District Court of Appeal at San Diego on grounds it was discriminatory; but the land use ordinance is valid so far.

Menton was expected to cause an arrest yesterday afternoon, but said he would study the location of the ranch before filing the complaint.

The new hog-ranch battle was precipitated yesterday when a delegation of irate farmers, headed by Wendell Heil, stormed the board of supervisors, demanding action on regulating hog ranches, threatening an injunction against the board, and demanding removal of Jules Markel from the county planning commission because, they said, his sons are helping build the new hog ranch.

Calumpit Camp Adds 2 Members

Election of William A. Parker and Newton D. Gilbert to membership, and transfer of Arthur Butler from Glendale, were principal features of the meeting of Calumpit camp, U. S. W. V., held last night in Columbus hall.

Com. Charles Reagan presided, and C. William Hannah was installed in the office of patriotic instructor, which was left vacant by the death of Frank P. Rowe.

Future events announced by Calumpit camp include a social meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall on July 13, the sewing circle at Hillcrest Park, Fullerton, on July 14, pot-luck supper on July 27, and an anniversary celebration on Aug. 3.

Nurse Sues Cawley Estate for $8370

Henry Braneschi, practical nurse, today sued John Cawley for $8370, which he claims is due him for attending the late Patrick Browne for four years.

Mr. Browne's estate, Braneschi alleges in his complaint against the executor, is valued at more than $90,000. He alleges he has filed with Cawley a claim for the $8370 which has neither been allowed nor rejected. Braneschi says he served as attendant and practical nurse to Mr. Browne from Feb. 4, 1933, to Feb. 16, 1937. He asks $7370 for 1474 nights' services, and $1000 interest. His complaint was filed by William J. M. Heinz, Anaheim attorney.

Women Complain Of Non-Support

Harry Dixon, 329 East Wakeham street, pleaded not guilty to a charge of non-support in justice court today, and will appear for trial July 12. His bail was set at $500.

The complaint was made by his wife, Grace Dixon, who charged that Dixon did not support their two young children.

Mrs. Lucile Honan, 212 Cubbon street, today filed a similar complaint against her husband, John F. Honan, charging non-support of four small children. Honan, she said, at present is in Missouri.

Drunken Drivers Pay Penalties

Two Orange county residents began paying the penalty for drunken driving in the county jail today.

George D. Martin, 28, 393 South Center street, Orange, began a sentence of 5 days after pleading guilty in Orange, and Harvey Dunn, 1602 South Oak street, Chico, is to serve a sentence of 75 days imposed in Brea.

Juan Calderon, 1937 McGarry street, was arrested early today and charged with drunken driving.

Townsend
News,
ViewsBy
WALTER R.
ROBB

Representative Harry R. Sheppard practically defied both the Townsendites of the 19th district and their national leader Dr. Townsend in his address delivered last Sunday afternoon in the Townsend Chautauqua, which concluded its sessions in a Monday evening mass meeting in Riverside Fairmont Park at which Doctor Townsend was the headline speaker. In the near neighborhood of 5000 Townsendites were present to hear and enthusiastically applaud the doctor in his evening address.

This he intimated he thought was in keeping with the exercise of the right of opinion which he prepared to enjoy as a congressman. He, however, failed to state what his attitude might be on the supreme court question when the bill finally comes before the house for consideration. It was easy to see, however, that Sheppard's sympathies included a leaning toward legislation of Democrat party origin. An exception to this was his reiterated statement to the effect that when he returned to Washington, which he did today, that he would continue to prosecute the interests of the general welfare act.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, in his address Monday evening, was equally positive that the Townsend plan movement was honor bound to throw the weight of its movement against the re-election of such congressmen who aid the President in his intended packing of the supreme court body. He described such congressmen as being of a dangerous type to have in congress and in forceful language demanded that "they be relegated to the political scrapheap." He said in this connection, intimating the attitude to be assumed in the next election, "We can go into any district from which such congressmen come and

DEFER PAVING OF BROADWAYPush Flower Street
Widening Plan

Plans for a $40,000 improvement of Broadway from First to Tenth street were held up for two weeks today. Councilman Plummer Bruns is studying them.

At the same time plans went forward for widening Flower street to Washington avenue, as the council instructed City Engineer J. L. McBride to begin obtaining rights of way for setting back property on the west side of the street.

BRUNS PROTESTS
Bruns was taken aback last night when Councilman Ernest Layton presented plans for the Broadway improvement. Layton was ready to move for advertising of bids, but Bruns said he hadn't seen the plans.

"I was here until 6 o'clock today, Ernie," Bruns protested, "and I didn't see them."

PLAN FAVORED
Property owners along Flower street, McBride reported, are heartily in favor of widening the street, which had become an important traffic artery. A WPA project probably will take care of the work, which includes widening of the roadway to 39 feet, with four-foot sidewalks and three-foot parkways. Widening of the street will entail setting the curb line back seven feet on the west side.

Harry R. Sheppard, Monday afternoon criticized the doctor for having written his editorial which appeared in the May 31 issue of the Townsend Weekly which was an attack on the court measure now before congress, and also on congressmen supporting it. He suggested that if the doctor would back up on the stand taken on the court issue that perhaps the breach between the steering committee and the doctor could be patched up. But Dr. Townsend must have devastated any hopes that Congressman Sheppard may have had that such was possible, for in the doctor's address delivered in the Riverside Park he said, "I have been severely criticized for having written a certain editorial on the packing of the supreme court but my friends I don't back up a single word."

Sheppard has a sense of humor which comes to the top even when he is being stirred deeply with anger. While delivering his address he alluded to the fact of his having dubbed the Townsendites of this district the "fighting 19th." In commenting on this he said, "From what I have seen lately there is no reason why I should change my opinion." The crowd caught the humor and laughed, as did Sheppard. The way the crowd cheered and applauded Dr. Townsend whenever he touched on the subject of his opposition to congressmen who were connected with the recent attempt to allude the Townsend clubs into changing their names to General Welfare ones must have made the followers of Sheppard and the congressmen, himself, conclude that the spirit of the Townsendites as the fighting 19th has been eliminated. There was strong evidence that in point of leadership in the district the group who are loyal to the doctor are far in excess numerically of those who have turned to the leadership of the congressman.

Harry Sheppard in his letter of June 9th and again in his address Sunday intimated that Captain Delbert Brunton's resignation from Dr. Townsend's staff of workers in Washington was due to his chagrin at the chaos precipitated among congressmen by the doctor's published editorial already referred to, but Dr. Townsend placed a different construction on the resignation of Brunton. He said, the reason Mr. Brunton resigned was because he had discovered after having contacted the members of congress that the task of getting sufficient signers on the petition to bring the general welfare act to the floor of congress during this session was hopeless and that the reason for his hopelessness was not the doctor's action but rather the opposition of the Democratic party administration. At this point the doctor made clear that New Deal leadership was opposed to the enactment of the Townsend plan into law and would likely so continue. He also suggested that neither the Democratic or Republican parties had shown a disposition to give the Townsend cause the help needed. He suggested that if this attitude was continued there might eventually the necessity of a new party. (To Be Continued.)

BRICK DUST

and THERE with
T. N.
(Brick) GAINES

By SKINNY SKIRVIN.

Sauntered up to Clyde Simmons yesterday to suggest he write a column for "Brick" Gaines, and then my heart went flip-flop. I was afraid he knew the county editor too well, and would refuse me. I could take it, but to have any one refuse to help my friend "Brick" was more than I could stand, so I says to myself—skip it, and go write another column yourself. I have never yet failed to get results on that kind of a theory.

But I am still perplexed about my inflamed haired friend not thinking about getting help himself, especially when he knows so many of the boys over the county. Maybe that's why he didn't ask you. You see if you don't do something for some one else then you can't expect some one else to do something for you. I'll take that kid to the woodshed just as soon as he gets back from his vacation.

And that will be about next Saturday, says I, because the "ghost" walks right in the middle of the day. "Brick" isn't afraid of "ghosts" which appear on the tenth and the twenty-fifth of the month, that's because his name is attached to one of the credentials. To be explicit it's pay day.

I went to Lido Isle Monday with friends, thinking I might get a glimpse of the vacationist. I looked over little sailboats and big sailboats and intermediate sailboats, and not a trace. His disappearance so far is as complete as that of Charley Ross.

I've got to locate that little shrimp. Let's see, I heard "Brick" Cypress or Stanton or Buena Park or Tomato Springs. Then there's the Silverado Canyon. Now that's a lead. He wouldn't go to Trabuco canyon because there's a blind road up there, and "Brick" always has his eyes open. There isn't any use searching around San Joaquin, because he shys from profanity like a maid shys from a gigolo.

If it was later in the year I might find him out in the Segerstrom or the Callens bean fields, and if it was harvest time in the bean fields I'd find him. By golly, got a good idea now. Why didn't I think of it before! I'll ask my friend Don Wilkie to catch up with "Brick." Art Peterson of the South Coast News can do the advertising. Don the "radioing," if I can get Webster's approval of that word, and Frank Champion can round-up the gang that does things.

Funny to me that 15 county newspaper editors, with a combination circulation of oh, say, considerable, can't help me locate "Brick." Ted Kuehl, I don't feel that it isn't his concern just on account of printing his weekly in a big town. If "Brick" was an Elk I'd have Bert Castex say something in the Elk Horn. One blast from that organ would arouse any sleeping vacationist.

And then there is the church publications as a last resort. They should be interested in a lost sheep—or ram—or whatever "Brick" is.

And it just occurs to me that many a time when "Brick" would return from a trip over the county he has vocalized about the county editors being such swell guys, and maybe they are. I can tell within the next few days.

Running a county page must be a swell job. You get to visit everybody, or talk to them over a telephone without paying the tolls. Lot o' gossip seeps in that don't get in the newspaper's county page. The best items don't get in the newspaper, but its cheaper to keep 'em out.

If the correspondents were as silent as "Brick" we wouldn't have any county page. He must have told them he had a vacation but they didn't. So every day the news must come through, just like the mail, or the show must go on even if one of the performers is off duty.

However, this thing can't go on forever, and for my part of the contribution ends with this issue, for which the county subscribers will no doubt be thankful. They will appreciate "Brick" all the more when he does get back on the job. I shall expect, and will appreciate, any new "Brick Dust" contributions from the boys in the smaller but important sections of the county. What they think is of moment, and in a burst of confession they might tell me a lot of things about "Brick" that I do not know.

Newport Plans To Improve Road

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Mayor Harry H. Williamson today has the authority of his city council to petition Uncle Sam for a WPA construction loan.

The loan is to be used to widen Marine avenue to Balboa island from Balboa avenue to the bridge. The city hopes to get a loan whereby WPA supplies the labor for the project, while the city supplies only the material needed.

NEWBERT AREA IS ORPHAN

Almost Dissolved, It Must Levy Taxes

The Newbert protection district, which tried to dissolve itself but couldn't, was stuck today with a $1500 construction project. The WPA was struck with a resurveying project of the district, with nobody to pay for the stakes they're driving.

Directors of the district, unsuccessful in a polite hint to the board of supervisors that the county might take over its contracts for some $1000 worth of materials and several hundred dollars for labor in putting piling around the Talbert bridge, will have to levy taxes for the next year or so, until the next legislation—they hope—lets them dissolve.

Franklin West, attorney for the district, appeared before the board yesterday afternoon with a suggestion from the directors that the county might like to take over the construction, along with maintenance of the district, which it already has offered.

The district, he said, now has about $2000 in its treasury, but most of that will be eaten up by the district pays for the piling and wire already ordered for the project.

District Attorney W. F. Menton and the supervisors, however, doubted whether the board had authority to take over a contract which someone else had made. The matter finally was left that the flood control district will take over maintenance when the project is finished. Meanwhile the Newbert district will maintain a skeleton organization until the next session of the legislature, when it hopes to be given authority to disincorporate.

The WPA survey turned out to be quite a question. It was started, West said, when the WPA was looking feverishly around for projects to begin.

DROP SURVEY
"They were looking for projects," said West, "and they came to start a survey. We said we'd pay for the stakes they have to use, so they started it."

"Maybe you're just looking for trouble with that survey," commented Supervisor John Mitchell. "Suppose the survey finds out that the levees are encroaching on some of the property down there, and the owners didn't know about that before?"

That seemed logical, so both the district and the supervisors agreed to drop the survey.

New Truck Bought For Orange Sewer

ORANGE.—Two WPA sewer projects in Orange were given aid at last night's meeting of the city council, when the city granted City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake permission to purchase a pick-up truck for use on the projects. An old Model T truck in the water department will be turned in on the used truck asked by Bonebrake upon completion of the sewer project. The new truck will be given to the water department.

About 5000 feet of lumber for cribbing, and 1300 feet of six-inch pipe was also allowed. George Williams was appointed foreman of the North Tustin sewer project, started July 1. The sewer will extend about a mile on North Tustin avenue from Chapman avenue.

An ordinance creating a special fund for law enforcement of traffic regulations, to be made up of money received by the city from state vehicle license fees, was given a first reading.

Newport Beach Wins Santa Barbara Prize

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Stellar honors for visiting entries in Santa Barbara's Semana Nautica, were awarded Newport Beach, it was learned here today.

Newport entered a bubble ship of unusual beauty, sail off with first honors in the visiting division. This city has been an annual participant in the Santa Barbara festival since the northern city sent the now-famous swan-and-signets entry to the Tournament of Lights many years ago. Newport's "Bubble Ship" was seen to its best advantage in a background that had the searchlights of the battleship Maryland playing on a dark fog bank that hovered off shore.

Attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Farr, J. F. Robinson, and Mr. Mrs. Freeborn. Gladys Nordstrom, vice president and acting president, presided.

LAGUNA TO DECIDE ABOUT SALARY FOR CITY ENGINEER

LAGUNA BEACH.—Councilman Charles Jester's suggestion that the city engineer be put on a salary, rather than the present 15 per cent contract basis, will be one of the major topics of discussion at tonight's council meeting.

Last week, the council adjourned into an in-committee hearing to discuss Jester's proposition. City Engineer Stead was present to give facts and figures as to the relative merits of salary and percentage offices.

Councilmen Heister, Cummings and Bainbridge are expected to report as a committee on mean high funds, will occupy a major role in the meeting.

FORMER BREA RESIDENT DIES

BREA.—Hiram Frederick Hurst, 54, a former resident of Brea, died suddenly at Orcutt, near Santa Maria late Saturday night. Mr. Hurst was president of the Brea Appliance corporation of Brea, subsidiary of the Brea Boiler works.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at the Gilgoly funeral chapel here, with the Rev. J. B. Abbott, pastor of the Free Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Orange Couple Wed in Yuma

ORANGE.—Mrs. Virginia Kennedy, 445 North Olive street, and William McElhany, 133 North Grand street, were quietly married in Yuma last Sunday by the Rev. E. E. Somers, Methodist pastor. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Yuma church. The couple had as attendants Mr. and Mrs. Harry Conn, 475 South Grand street.

The bride wore a white silk suit with blue accessories, while Mrs. Conn was dressed in dark blue printed silk with white accessories. The newlyweds will live at the bride's new home on North Olive street. Before coming to Orange, six months ago, McElhany lived in Santa Ana.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"That salesman is such a pest, and I can't get rid of him. Shall I show him in?"

HOLIDAY TRADE BRINGS SMILES

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Merchants of this beach district are walking the streets with big smiles today. All the result of the merry tune played on their cash registers by 75,000 people who thronged the beaches to take advantage of a double holiday.

On all sides indications point to the biggest business year since 1929.

At the Pavilion Boat landing in Balboa the boats were "nearly all full" for the first time in many years. It was a gala day for sea sportsters, as reservations for sail boats and other types of floating craft had to be put in more than two hours in advance.

GAMING BOOTHS POPULAR

Meanwhile the public played at concessions and gaming booths all along the beach. "Sportland" reported the best business since they have opened. The midway was open until late Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights, with throngs clamoring to put their chips on the line.

The Florence bakery reported that "business has been fine all year, but this is more than we expected out of the double holiday. It is the best business session we have had in a good many years."

Those 75,000 continued to eat as C. J. Ender said he employed seven men to handle his meat market. In the same food center, Charley Wade, resident of Balboa for the past 28 years, indicated that it was the best business he had seen. "We have been rushed to death," Wade said. "It's good for business, though."

CASH REGISTER TALKS

"Business has been very good," Lonnie Vincent of the Balboa pharmacy confided, "but the cash register will have to tell whether it is better than the holiday last year. I think it is."

Harry D. Hyde, realtor, pointed to increased rentals as a real sign of the upward swing in business. "All we have left," Hyde said, "are a few large houses. All the medium and smaller ones were gone long ago."

Meanwhile Pacific Electric lines put six extra cars on the Newport-Balboa run to take care of pleasure seekers. The cars were packed for their trip from the metropolitan area.

Crowds at the Rendezvous dance hall were reported "just like the good old days." "It seems like spring vacation again," one member of Gil Evans' orchestra confided after looking over the crowded floor.

TIL WE SNA' HOURS

Business at Currie's ice cream store was the best since the store has been open. "Even better than Easter week," one of the girls declared. "Why, we have had to stay open until 1:30 and 3:30 all this week-end."

Accommodations at Balboa Inn were all taken Friday evening, and the management turned away at least a hundred people who wanted reservations.

The same condition existed with Everett Chase and his bungalows. They were all filled over the week-end, with many being turned away. The restaurant business, too, has its good points. At least, that's what Vaux White, of Broiler, thinks. "We are having a better business than at any time during Easter week," White said. "Whether it will be better than last year or not is for the cash register to say."

Fishermen took advantage of the three-day holiday to do a lot of deep-sea work. Fowler's bait and tackle store in Newport reported that business was the best it had been in a long time.

POST BEACH FIRE WARNING

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—A notice posted today by the Newport Beach fire department warned all persons in this area that regulations on burning combustible material will be strictly enforced.

Under terms of the new decree no burning of refuse will be allowed on the public beaches. No burning will be allowed on Balboa Island except in approved incinerators. The department indicated that it looks with disfavor on oil drums and other improvised means of disposing of trash.

Burning must be confined to the hours of 6 and 9 a. m., and fires must not be built on streets or on property belonging to others.

Relief Corps Has Picnic At Anaheim

GARDEN GROVE.—Members of the W. E. Case Woman's Relief corps, with their families, gathered at Anaheim city park for a picnic supper and social evening recently.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fritcher, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill and children, Cora Mae, William, Edward, Kathleen and Robert; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Schroff and children, Alma Jean, Barbara and Leo; Mrs. Lillian Lovett and son, Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bryan and Harvey; Bryan, Mrs. Clara Olson and sons, Merle and Donald; Billy Ferris, Miss Mabel Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Dunsdon, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Romack, Mrs. Jennie Lewis and daughters, Barbara and La Rae; Wanda Hunter, Mrs. Pearl Anderson and daughters, Mildred, Eleanor and Pearl Louise; Shirley and Irene Hallamore and Severt Nearing of Potlatch, Idaho.

Anaheim Bride Is Honored at Shower

STANTON.—Mrs. William Pestlefield was hostess at a miscellaneous shower recently, complimenting Miss Constance Ann Baxter of Anaheim, who on July 1 became the bride of Delbert Sanders.

The party, an evening affair, was attended by Mrs. Edith Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Will Thompson, Betty Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mauer, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Sowers, Mrs. Jack Rutledge, Mrs. A. J. Carr, Mrs. Clarence Howard, Mrs. Eva Cushman, Mrs. Chester Miller, Dorothy Morris, Clyde Straw, Corinne Wright, Mrs. Myrtle Brown, Geraldine Brown, Dorothy Ellsworth, Mrs. Leah Nudelman, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sanders.

The wedding was solemnized at St. Boniface church in Anaheim. The bride was attended by Agnes Allen. The groom's brother, Malcolm Sanders, acted as best man.

Spark Ignites C. M. Playroom

COSTA MESA.—Fire resulting from an incinerator spark which leached in a mosquito bar completely destroyed the playroom and "den" of Charles Boone Monday. The building, which was located in the rear of the C. E. Boone home, had only been completed six weeks ago.

Young Charles was away from home at the time and before his mother smelled the smoke, the blaze was so far advanced that nothing could be saved, the loss being estimated at $300.

The fire department saved a number of rabbits, pheasants and chickens from nearby coops.

May-B, Rebuilt, Pursues Fish

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—The May-B, completely rebuilt, and with a new Diesel power plant, is at work again today.

The May-B has been on the ways for the past two weeks undergoing a complete overhauling. The old motor was taken out and a new 68-horsepower Allis-Chalmers Diesel put in its place.

According to D. W. King, operator of a fleet of fishing boats and owner of the May-B, the repair and work done cost around $4500.

EL BAYO GETS $10,000 HOUSE

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—A building permit for a $10,000 house in the popular El Bayo tract was released from the city engineer's office today.

The permit, issued to H. Stanley Bent, calls for a two-story frame structure to be constructed at 1020 Bay avenue West, facing the bay. According to Donald Kirby, architect for Bent, the house will be of "modernized-Mediterranean" style. It will have five bedrooms, and a three-car garage in addition to servants' quarters and regular accommodations.

The building is slated to have a Spanish tile roof and will be constructed by Bent himself. The house is to be 72 feet long, 38 feet wide and more than 22 feet high. The house is to be built in the shape of a horseshoe, opening on the west.

Plans call for the house to have a glass-enclosed porch overlooking the bay. Construction started this week and will be finished in October, it was indicated.

3 New Members On Library Board

ORANGE.—The resignation of Cal D. Lester from the library board was accepted at last night's meeting of the council, although Lester had presented his resignation before the last council meeting in June. The press of duties as justice of the peace will prevent his serving longer, the former city council member stated.

The term of two other library board members automatically expires July 1, that of Alfred Higgins and Mrs. Walter Pixley. Mayor A. C. Boice reappointed Higgins to serve another term, and Mrs. Walter Weimer to serve in place of Mrs. Pixley. Councilman Carl Carlson was appointed to fill the Lester vacancy. Holdover members on the board are Ben Brubaker and Mrs. F. E. Hallman.

Police Officer Carl Kreuger was given an increase of $5 per month in pay, having served the customary 12 months' period before such increase is granted.

City Judge L. F. Coburn asked an increase in pay from $77 per month to $100 per month, which was refused.

The local company of the National Guard was given $100 for its mess fund, to be paid on receipt bills at the close of the encampment period. This amount is donated each year to the three officers and 61 men of the unit.

G. G. Couple Hosts Over Holidays

GARDEN GROVE.—Mr. and Mrs. Arno Soest of West Garden Grove boulevard entertained a group of friends and relatives for a pot-luck dinner Sunday, after which various out-of-door games were enjoyed, followed by a fireworks display in the evening.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rogers of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nuslein and daughter, Shirley Marie, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Northrup and children, Carol and Keith; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Northrup; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Northrup and son, Clinton; Mr. and Mrs. George Michel; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Soest and children, Shirley, Herbert, Jr., and Jerry, and Miss Esther Michel, all of Los Angeles.

One Injured In Orange Collision

ORANGE.—Richard C. Brook, 524 E. Almond street, was scratched and received pavement burns, when the car he was driving was involved in a collision with an auto driven by Elbert Morse, Somerton, Ariz., Monday afternoon.

The Brooks car was overturned and slid along the pavement for about 75 feet. First aid was given by Officer V. G. Wolfe, who investigated. The collision occurred at Almond and South Olive streets.

ENTERTAIN SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sawtelle had as dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Kuesler, Los Angeles. Other guests recently entertained in the Sawtelle home included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor, Rufus Taylor, Mrs. D. W. Maxwell and son, Edgar, of Coachella.

LAGUNA TO FIX STREET HAZARD

LAGUNA BEACH.—Acknowledging a request from Charles Reiser, Hollywood director residing in Laguna, that the sharp Wilson street corner behind the high school be cut down for public safety, the city will allocate $335 of gas tax money for improvement of the hazardous condition, it was announced this week.

Since the change in Wilson street would necessitate removal of buildings on school district property, the city's offer in response to Reiser's request is discretionary with the school board, to which the matter has been referred. Reiser offers to give a considerable slice of his own property adjoining the school property so that visibility for motorists and school children alike will be improved.

Only by Providence, Reiser says, accidents have been averted at the corner, which is close by the high school athletic field.

Propose Newport Tax Rate Boost

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—A proposal for a tax rate boost of 200 to 300 per cent for the library and park funds stared citizens of Newport in the face today.

The motion for the increase, considered at city council meeting earlier in the week, called for an increase in the tax levy for the park fund from 3 cents to 10 cents. The contemplated boost in the library fund is from 3 to 6 cents.

The motion was tabled after a few minutes discussion, reports indicated.

If it comes up in a general election, as it must if the boost is to be made effective, it will undoubtedly go down in defeat, impartial observers declared here today.

75 at Rebekah Potluck Supper

ORANGE.—About 75 members attended the potluck supper and meeting of Ruby Reed lodge Monday night in the I.O.O.F. hall.

A visitor, Mrs. Vihian Izola Blundin, of the Canal Zone, was present. She is the daughter of Mrs. Hattie Pulley, and is making an extended visit with her mother.

Mrs. Jewell Heilege, noble grand, presided over the business meeting. The next meeting will be installation of officers, with the district deputy president, Mrs. Olive Patton, Fullerton, as installing officer.

Slides were chosen for an old fashioned spelling bee, with Mrs. Alma Coffey and Mrs. Ella Hight as captains.

GOODWINS ENTERTAIN

ORANGE.—Holiday guests in the West Palmyra avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Goodwin included Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hickson and son Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Masters, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Fulcher, and Miss Jean Longworth, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brilling, Pasadena; Jack L. Ripley and sons, Leola, Harry and Harold, and Mrs. M. L. Ripley, San Pedro; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Goodwin, Downey; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Case, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Goodwin and son Charles Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Goodwin, and Mrs. Billy and Donald, all of Orange.

INCREASE SEEN FOR BUSINESS

L. A. Chamber Paints Optimistic Picture

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Mid-year business conditions in Southern California are generally well above the comparable figure for 1936, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce monthly review showed today.

Bank debits, building permits and postoffice receipts, business barometers, are well in advance of last year, showing increases ranging from 12 to 18 per cent.

Figures covering industrial employment and payrolls for May show Los Angeles county ahead of last year by 19 to 33 per cent. The fall outlook is good, says the report, with the seasonal summer business decline no more than is to be expected. Abundant rainfall through the year has left agriculture in an excellent condition. Deciduous fruits have recovered from their dormant period induced by January's cold weather and prospects indicate an above-average crop, both in quantity and quality.

Tree crops, including citrus, avocados and walnuts, have developed satisfactorily with a good supply of controlled irrigation water. Melons and berries, although on the market in large quantities, have brought steady prices.

Two Children and Husband Are Lost

Two lost children and a lost husband demanded police attention yesterday.

Dickey Joe Collier, 4, and his sister, Annita, 3, stood at Fourth and Bush streets and wondered what to do. Pretty soon a friendly policeman came to get them and took them home. But there wasn't anyone there. So they went back to the station, where mother, Mrs. Victor C. Collier, finally came and relieved the police of their young burden.

Mrs. Max Omez, 417 South Broadway, wanted police to look for her husband, who had left the house at 8 a. m. and hadn't returned on schedule. The police looked, but he returned home before they could find him.

Champ Schultz Rides Prize Bike

The champ was riding a new streamlined bicycle today.

He is Buddy Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Schultz, 740 Eastwood, Santa Ana.

He is the champion Saturday Evening Post seller in the district comprising Santa Ana, Long Beach, San Pedro, Wilmington, Orange and coastal communities. Buddy is the champ because he sold close to a thousand copies of the magazine in a contest just ended after six weeks of competition. Announcement of the award was made today by Lloyd Arthur, local distributor.

The local boy won a shiny new bike for his efforts.

DRIVERS GIVEN HEAVY FINES

Ralph E. Alexander, 1009 Crockier street, Los Angeles, today began serving a 75-day sentence in the county jail here after pleading guilty to drunken driving in police court yesterday.

Phillip Adams, 817 North Janss street, Anaheim, and Robert Jesse, Route 4, Box 393, both pleaded guilty to charges of reckless driving and were fined $25 each.

Ten speeders chose not to dispute their charges and paid a total of $70 in fines. The following were fined for speeding: Fred Burman, Artesia, $10; Gordon Champion, 410 Fifth street, Huntington Beach, $8; Joseph S. Fuller, 602 Bay avenue, Balboa, $6; W. W. Hendricks, Claremont, $6; Charles W. Reither, 1116 Halstead street, $8; Stanley W. Smith, Jr., Los Angeles, $8; Billy L. Sweet, Huntington Park, $6; William N. Timmons, Baldwin Park, $6; Joseph R. Powell, 182 North Cambridge, Orange, $6.

Three who were fined for failing to observe boulevard stop signals were Lloyd Clayton Coghill, 120 North Orange, Brea, $2; Roy A. Fowler, Long Beach, $2; and Betty M. Wilson, Long Beach, $2.

Mrs. Agnes Robertson, Costa Mesa, paid $1 for overtime parking; Harold Sowars, Santa Ana, $1 for double parking; S. P. Ozmert, 1215 North Ross street, $1 for parking in a red zone; and Abel Serrano, Belvedere Gardens, $5 for driving without a license.

NRS GETS JOBS FOR 10,318

Jobs for 10,318 men and women have been secured through the National Reemployment service here in the fiscal year which ended June 30. This was announced today following compilation of figures for the past fiscal year by Charles Fallert, manager of the Orange county district.

New applications during the same period totaled 5156.

A picture of the periods when work is most plentiful in this county is presented in a breakdown of figures for the year. Placements for the various months of 1936 were as follows: July, 958; August, 1178; September, 1025; October, 1049; November, 595; December, 717; and for 1937: January, 650; February, 412; March, 716; April, 1193; May, 1161 and June, 764.

New applications made in the various months of 1937 were as follows: July, 394; August, 431; September, 225; October, 359; November, 339; December, 294; for 1937: January, 70; February, 662; March, 615; April, 398; May, 316, and June, 417.

CAN'T CREATE JOBS

"The employment service," Fallert said, "helps by bringing together the jobless men and the manless jobs whenever openings and men that fit them are called to its attention."

"It cannot create jobs for the jobless. Its purpose is to conduct a modern, efficient system of public employment offices for the mutual benefit of employers and those seeking work."

GUNS SILENT, FISH RETURN

It's fishing time again. All along the Newport-Balboa waterfront are heard reports that fishing has returned to normal since the layoff of Uncle Sam's naval cohorts from their gunnery maneuvers off San Clemente coast.

From Monday to Friday last week fishing was what anglers at the beach resort called "lousy."

Fishing wisecracks nodded their heads in assent today when asked if they thought the gun practice had anything to do with fishing. "It has a lot to do with it," one old-timer confided. "The minute those guns start booming every fish within 50 miles either heads straight for the bottom or goes so far out it takes him four days to get back."

D. W. King, operating a fleet of trolling and sport fishing boats out of Newport, reported that a few yellowtail and sea bass are being caught. In addition to these gamey fin-flashers record catches of albacore and barracuda have been reported. Even a few broadbill swordfish have been sighted by sport anglers.

MESA GETS NEW FIRE TRUCK

Costa Mesa's volunteer fire department is going to get a new $5500 fire truck. The board of supervisors yesterday agreed to appropriate that amount in the budget, assurance being made early so the Costa Mesa workers can prepare to make mechanical adjustments and improvements on the new truck before the summer is over. A similar amount was appropriated last year for Yorba Linda.

Ask County Care For Mexicans

Orange's high school board knows now what it feels like to build a large boat in a small cellar. What started out several years ago as an Americanization project among Mexicans in El Modena and Orange Mexican colonies has turned into a welfare project, the board commented, and they need help.

In a letter to the board of supervisors the school board asked that the county take over the project under its welfare department. The letter was filed.

DOGS AND BEES

Dogs and bees were part of police worries yesterday. Barking and howling dogs took officers to Stanford and Main streets and to the 1900 block on Valencia street, but no canines could be found at either place. M. B. Watson, 1924 North Ross street, complained that a swarm of bees had settled in his yard. Officers thankfully relayed the call to Poundmaster Pickering.

TRACT AT B. P. WANTS WATER

Property owners in the Callaway tract near Buena Park want to join Orange county's No. 2 water district. They asked the board of Supervisors for permission yesterday in a petition signed by 18 landowners.

The board arranged for hearings to be held the next three supervisors' meetings, after which an election will be called in the district to vote on the annexation.

To Train Chorus Of Negro Voices

Plans for organizing and training a chorus of 50 voices from local churches for colored people were announced today.

Joseph Lee Turner of Boston, Mass., who studied for three years in France under the noted teacher, Isador Philipp, will direct the organization plans and give instruction in choral singing.

Thursday at 8 p. m. Turner will play and sing at an introductory event at the Johnson chapel, A. M. E. church, 1820 West Second street, to which the public is invited.

Justus Craemer Gives Away Bridge

Justus Craemer is giving away bridges. Yesterday he gave one to Los Angeles.

It was the $650,000 North Figueroa street viaduct. State, city and county officials and a large crowd of other folks witnessed the opening ceremonies.

Craemer, assistant state director of public works, is one of the publishers of the Orange News. He was first in a long line of speakers who marched to the microphone at the ceremonies. He gave the bridge away. Mayor Shaw of Los Angeles accepted it.

To Present WPA Piano Recital

Students of the WPA piano teaching classes will present a recital tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the social hall of the First Methodist church.

Pupils from both Santa Ana and Fullerton piano classes will offer selections. Mrs. Zoe Summers of Santa Ana and Mrs. Jessie Jackson of Fullerton have been the instructors.

The recital will be open to all, with no admission fee charged.

Pedestrian Hit By Automobile

Felis McManus, 215½ East Fifteenth street, encountered the dangers of crossing streets yesterday when he was struck by a car driven by Epiyaro L. Geck, 1227 West Second street, as he stepped into the pedestrian lane on Seventeenth street.

Geck had been unable to observe the stop sign, and McManus was carried into the middle of the intersection. He sustained only slight bruises.

4-Square Revival Attracts Crowds

The revival which began at the Four-Square church Sunday night is attracting large crowds nightly to hear "Cyclone Jackson" of North Carolina. The services are conducted every night except Saturday.

Assisting Evangelist Jackson are S. E. Ramseyer and Mrs. Ramseyer, who provide music. The public is invited.

HIT-RUN DRIVER

O. W. Wyatt, Santa Fe railroad yards, reported to police yesterday that a hit-and-run driver had struck the parked car of Bourke W. Hawser, 923 Minter street.

WILL 'ARM' TO FIGHT DISASTER HERE

SERVICE CLUBS
TAKE LEADJoint Meeting Aug. 4
To Hear Strategy

By KENNETH ADAMS
Orange county today began digging trenches to defend itself against any type of war-time or peace-time emergency which threatens or disaster which comes.

District Manager Rodney E. Bacon of the Edison company wielded the shovel that turned up the preliminary embankments designed to protect this county from disaster of any kind.

He launched a movement to create a Major Disaster Emergency council, such as has proved so effective in Los Angeles county.

PRELIMINARY PLANS
Tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. committees from the Lions club here will meet to draft plans for an important meeting of law enforcement officers and city officials from all parts of Orange county. This meeting will be held on Aug. 4 in Jack Fisher park, starting with a luncheon.

Interest in establishment of a council headed by constituted authority was mounted steadily since The Journal published an exclusive story several weeks ago, telling of plans as it operates in Los Angeles and how the United States army used the plan to help protect rich Orange county oil fields in recent war games.

TO OFFER AID
From Los Angeles will come Capt. Larry Hossack, personnel officer of the Los Angeles sheriff's office; Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, and F. L. Eley, chief of the underground operations division of the Edison company, to explain the setup and offer to help work out a similar plan in this county.

The Edison company will send down its radio truck which was used by the army in the recent aviation maneuvers. Loud speakers will be placed in the park to enable the audience to listen to the demonstration of how the truck serves in an emergency.

Bacon has invited all police chiefs, fire chiefs and members of the sheriff's office to meet with the group on Aug. 4. Mayor Fred C. Rowland of Santa Ana has extended a similar invitation to all mayors of Orange county communities. Members of the board of supervisors also will be asked to attend. An invitation has been extended to Dr. C. G. Huston, Costa Mesa, chairman of the Associated Chambers of Commerce safety committee.

OFFICIAL AIDES
The main committee in charge of the Aug. 4 program includes Bacon as general chairman, Sheriff Logan Jackson, Councilman Ernest H. Layton and A. G. Greene, Sub-committees from the Lions club which will aid in the program include the civic improvement committee, headed by Councilman Layton and including J. C. Wallace, George Raymer, William Smith, H. L. Manker and A. J. McFadden, and the community development committee, headed by Greene, and including Josh Wilson, William T. White, R. E. Bacon, R. N. Hockaday and Floyd Haskell.

Featured speaker at the meeting will be Captain Hossack, who will explain in detail the operation of the disaster council in Los Angeles. Layton will be in charge of arrangements at the park for the big event.

READY TO ACT
If and when disaster strikes, under the new plan, it will find authorities ready to operate under a far-sighted, well thought-out program designed to alleviate panic, minimize losses of life and property, and speed return of normalcy.

The emergency council is designed to operate in times of war as well as in cases of earthquakes, floods, tornadoes, fires, pestilence and other major disasters. Just how important the United States army considers the plan was shown graphically in the recent air war game staged in Southern California.

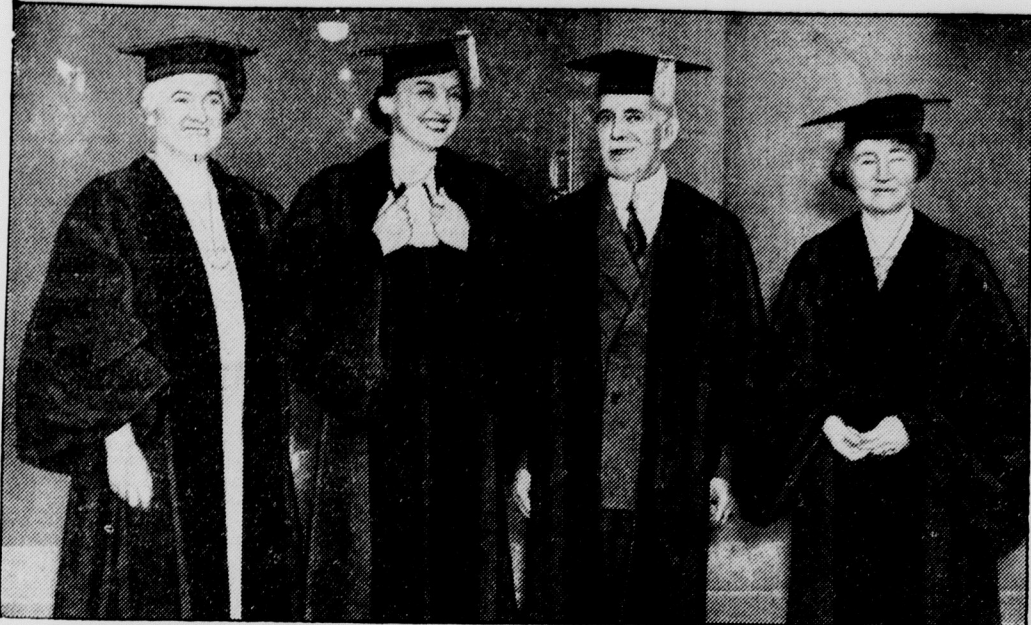

For the first time in the history of "attack" and "defense" of Los Angeles, Orange and other surrounding counties, the defense group emerged victorious. It was the first time the army used the Edison company's private communication system, and high army officials were amazed at the rapidity with which attacking planes were spotted and defeated because of the surprise element.

PHANTOM CIRCUIT
The key to the entire plan is in the private system of communication used by the Edison company, which includes a "phantom" circuit, or "wired wireless" in some instances.

The disaster plan embodies rescue work, suppression of any fires occurring, temporary rehabilitation and reclamation including hospitalization of the injured, shelter and sustenance for the survivors, and accelerated permanent rehabilitation of the area.

The plan sets up heads of units, including county department heads. An advisory council includes public utilities, Red Cross, military forces, federal, state, county and municipal authorities. The Edison company fits snugly into the picture because of the importance of maintaining power in times of emergency.

Honored With Degrees From Smith College

Katherine Cornell, the actress (second from left); Elizabeth Cutter Morrow (right), widow of Dwight Morrow and mother of Anne Morrow Lindbergh; Josephine Schain of the University of Minnesota (left) and Prof. Charles Hazen of Columbia University are shown at Smith college where they received honorary degrees.

Lieut. Monro At Military Camp

Reserve officers now on duty with the Citizens' Military Training camp at the Presidio of Monterey include Second Lieut. George F. Monro, infantry reserve, who resides at 1722 Bush street, Santa Ana.

Twelve hundred young men from all parts of the state are undergoing 30 days of military training at the historic calvary post under supervision of regular army and reserve personnel as provided by the national defense act of 1920.

Santa Ana May Get Tax Property

Instead of going to the state, tax-delinquent property in Santa Ana may henceforth be deeded to the city.

Councilman Joseph Smith and William Penn today comprised a committee appointed by Mayor Fred C. Rowland last night to investigate the possibility of the city's acquiring such property, made legal by an act of the last legislature.

con. R. N. Hockaday and Floyd Haskell. The city council last night authorized removal of trees along the park street under supervision of Park Superintendent Dale Griggs.

The school is open to all children of the city, regardless of church affiliation, and no charge is made. It will be continued for two weeks with classes from 9 to 11 a. m. Classes are divided into three groups for primary, junior and intermediate ages and play and hand work periods are held in addition to study of the Bible.

X-Ray Muzzle To End Radio Trouble
X-ray technicians and chiropractors who operate high-frequency electrical gadgets will have to muzzle them—they interfere with police radio transmitters.

City Attorney L. W. Blodgett presented to the city council last night a new ordinance for control of high-frequency oscillation, which disturbs efficiency of the transmitters just installed in Santa Ana police cars. The ordinance provides for inspection of such equipment by the city electrical inspector and requires suppressors on the devices if he determines they are causing interference.

Gospel Services On Street Banned
E. L. Friend, 1320 West Third street, pastor of the Full Gospel Assembly, will have to find some other place to hold gospel services besides downtown street corners.

The city council last night denied a request for gospel services which the minister wanted to hold beginning Saturday night at Fourth and Spurgeon streets. His second preference, the corner of Fourth and French streets, also was turned down by the council.

School Orchestra Practice Tomorrow
First rehearsal of an orchestra for elementary and junior high school students will be held in the music room of Willard Junior high school tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, under the supervision of Herbert Michel, director.

DEFER DAM ACTION
WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate commerce committee yesterday deferred action on Bonneville dam administrative legislation after Sen. Frederick Steiwer of Oregon submitted an amendment designed to clarify language relative to reservation of power for public bodies and cooperatives.

TROUBLE HITS
GARAGE PLANReport Difficulty In Saturday Closing

Garage service men were running into difficulties today over enforcement of their edict of last Saturday to close all service departments at 1 p. m. Saturdays. The plan, supposed to have gone into effect July 1, was followed by many garages in Santa Ana, but others could not live up to the agreement.

B. J. MacMullen's service department remained open last Saturday, despite the fact that it signed the agreement. According to Harry Coleman, service foreman, the reason the shop remained open is "because we couldn't live up to terms of the agreement on a three-day notice."

"We have been operating on 24-hour service for the past year and recently have been closing at mid-night. We found it absolutely impossible to comply with the plan on such short notice, as our customers would have been the ones to suffer."

"The question that always comes up in an agreement of this type," Coleman continued, "is enforcement. If the plan gets 100 per cent cooperation it is all right. Otherwise, it might just as well never have been thought of."

"Eventually we will probably come under the plan, but I can't say how soon."

PLAN WORKS WELL
At George Duntun's garage the plan was followed and worked out "nicely," a shop official said. "It is all that we have hoped, and it will undoubtedly become a permanent feature."

The plan is sponsored by the Motor Car Dealer's Association of Orange county and embraces other Santa Ana and Orange county dealers including the Reid Motor company, L. D. Coffing, Bartleson and Wilson, Henry A. Baldwin, O. R. Haan, Headley Motor company, R. W. Townsend, the Willis Santa Ana company, and George V. Tribe.

Graiewski Loses Wife and Liberty

Edmund B. Graiewski, Santa Ana electrician had lost his wife and his freedom today.

Shortly before Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames ruled that Graiewski is insane and committed him to the Mendocino state hospital instead of trying him on a bad check charge. Mrs. Graiewski won a default interlocutory divorce decree in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court.

Graiewski had pleaded guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity to a charge of passing a $500 worthless check to John McCarty, Santa Ana automobile finance man. The defendant was returned from Illinois for trial.

Dr. Harris Wins
New Office Site

The city planning commission found itself very much in the minority today, as its recommendation against establishment of a doctor's office on French street stood turned down by the city council.

Dr. W. A. Harris was granted permission, subject to zoning ordinances, to move his office from the First National Bank building to his residence at 801 French street. No objections were voiced at the hearing last night, but the planning commission's recommendation against the change was overruled by the council.

CCC RANKS ARE THROWN OPENOnly Requirement Is Need for Job

Go CCC, young man—you don't have to come from a relief family any more. All you have to prove is that you haven't a job, and that you need one.

A change in regulations modifying the former rule that enrollees had to come from relief families was incorporated in the bill for continuance of the CCC, signed by President Roosevelt Monday.

The maximum age limit also has been changed—reduced from 23 to 25 years, because only a very small percentage of applicants are over 21 years of age. No man with former CCC service totalling two years or more, including all previous enrollments, may be re-selected.

Single, unattached young men are now being received as applicants, but cannot be enrolled until final details covering deposits for their money are arranged. A more comprehensive education program is planned for the three-year extension period authorized when the President signed the bill.

Local applications for July enrollment may be filed with Belle J. Spangler, selecting agent, in the courthouse annex, room 260.

BOARD TO HEAR
TAX PROTESTSWill Meet to Adjust
Local Assessments

The board of supervisors was ready today for complaints, questions and requests for reassessment of property as members began sitting as a board of equalization.

The board—or a quorum of the group—will set each day until July 19 as required by law. Its job as an equalization board began at 10 a. m. yesterday, although the board didn't realize it.

Supervisor Harry Riley, in fact, hadn't been told by yesterday afternoon that the board was two bodies combined. He thereupon put his glasses on upside down, remarking:

"Well, now we'll switch over and be a board of equalization." First "customer" of the board was Anton Wilson of Placentia, who appeared yesterday afternoon with a request for explanation of assessment on property and buildings there. He was given proper instructions and a blank to fill out if he believes the assessment is incorrect.

Country Club Committees Named

Junior Dance Friday Will Feature Girls' Summer Formals

Frothy summer formals will be worn by younger misses of the Country club set, when they and sports-dad escorts gather for the monthly junior dance this Friday evening. The college crowd of young people will be particularly honored at the affair which is open to all juniors.

This was decided at a committee meeting held yesterday morning at the Howard Rapp home. Mrs. Rapp and Mrs. Hugh Lowe comprise the standing junior committee chairmen of directors' wives for the year.

They have chosen as their assistant hostesses for this month Mrs. Harvey Gardner, Mrs. Clarence Jordan, Mrs. Rex Kennedy, Mrs. R. C. Hoiles and Mrs. J. B. Tucker, who will superintend punch-serving, receiving and the dancing, which will be to an orchestra's music, and will start at half past eight.

Last evening both Mrs. Rapp and Mrs. Lowe joined in a monthly meeting of the directors' wives called by Mrs. A. G. Flagg, general chairman of the group which has launched a round of social activities at the club during the summer and fall months.

Of principal interest at the meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. Flagg, at her home was announcement of standing committees for the remainder of the month. Henceforth, these will assist Mr. and Mrs. Miller, new club manager and his wife, who will attend to all the business details of parties which for several weeks have also been the duties of the committee members.

For the evening card party for husbands, wives and guests on July 16, Mrs. Ben Osterman, Mrs. Flagg and Mrs. Richard Emison, standing mistress, will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Farnsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Means, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carden and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur May.

The monthly bridge tea, to be held July 23, will be hosted by Mrs. R. C. Hoiles and Mrs. George Parker and Mrs. Flagg, with the help of Mrs. Robert Mize, Mrs. C. W. Hill and Mrs. Don Jerome. Mrs. B. J. MacMullen, Mrs. Sherman Stevens, Mrs. James Irvine, Mrs. H. B. Wellington, Mrs. G. K. Scovel and Mrs. F. E. Wehrly have been asked to pour.

For the senior dance July 30, the Riley Hubers, the Bob Fernandezes, and the Roy Langleyes will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bennis, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ewert, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Holmes, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Rola Hays, Jr.

Mrs. Flagg also announced committees for each of the weekly Sunday night buffet suppers at the clubhouse during July. These will include the Bob Westons, the Jenkinses, the B. T. Gothards and the Nick Thompsons, for July 11; the Paul Halls, the Ernest Wimbleres, the Floyd Howards and the Walter Pixleys for the 15th; the M. B. Wellingtons, the Robert Coles, the D. E. Liggetts and the Howard Rapps, for the 25th; the C. V. Davises, the Ray Chandlers, the M. W. Millers and the Charles Cogans for Aug. 1.

Substitutes for any of these who are unable to assist will be chosen from the following list: the Warner Hillyards, the J. B. Beaches, the J. K. McDonalds, the Dean Campbells and the Van Pomeroyes.

ARNOLDS HOLD FAMILY REUNION

An old-fashioned family reunion was celebrated in the C. C. Arnold home, 1424 West Third, over the week-end when children and grandchildren returned to the family home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Arnold and children, Dickie and Jackie, visited here from Hemet, and Mr. and Mrs. Billie Arnold and children, Jimmy and Nancy Ann, came from Fullerton. The group went to Balboa Island for a beach party on Monday.

SCHROEDERS HOME
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schroeder have returned to their home at 2131 Lincoln street after a week-end trip to Paso Robles and Tulare lake.

NO FRILLS OR FURBELOWS!

STREAMLINED SURF SUIT—Some of the smartest swim suits are streamlined to cut the water like a knife with no nonsense in the design. This one of blue knitted wool has a crepe-like finish, braided shoulder straps and a belt to match. A big straw cartwheel hat with a bright blue band makes a good sunshade for lounging hours.

MISS HOUGHAM HAS HOUSE PARTY ON ANNIVERSARY

The birthday anniversary of Miss Harriett Hougham today was incentive for launching of a gay house party at the attractive Balboa island home of her parents, the H. K. Houghams, 2003 North Broadway.

Guests who will spend two or three days there, enjoying the beach and sails on Miss Harriett's birthday sailboat, are Miss Anna Margaret Bell, Miss Harriet Spicer, Miss Anita Potter, and Miss Virginia Crowell, the latter of San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Hougham had as their house guests for the week-end, also at the beach cottage, Mr. and Mrs. Val Smith of Calexico, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Copeland of Long Beach. Both men are Union Oil managers in their districts.

GAY MOTIF IS USED AT HERSHEY HOME

Miniature flag-poles centered each dessert table, and flowers and other decorations in patriotic hues decorated the home of Mrs. E. A. Hershey recently when police officers' wives of Santa Ana met for a social afternoon.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Hershey were Mrs. B. F. Lutz, Mrs. C. E. Neer and Mrs. L. H. Nicholson. Table prizes for Monte Carlo went to Mrs. George Boyd, Mrs. C. L. Neuschwanger, and Mrs. Harry Fink. Other guests were Mrs. Richard Bradley, Mrs. Paul Cozad, Mrs. J. W. Foster, Mrs. F. L. Grouard, Mrs. William Heard, Mrs. F. W. Howard, Mrs. W. B. Moreland, Mrs. J. S. McWilliams, and the hostesses.

LEE SMITHS TO MAKE HOME HERE

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lee Smith of Kemmerer, Wyo., have arrived in Santa Ana to make their home, so that they may be near their two sons, E. Lee Smith, Jr., and Robert U. Smith, both in business here.

While getting settled at their new home, 1226 Ross street, the Smiths are visiting with the Lee Smiths on South Flower street.

Curran's Have Gay Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curran of 2003 Victoria drive were host and hostess Monday evening at a gala dinner party with holiday motif. After dinner guests enjoyed outdoor sports, and later an elaborate fireworks display on the tennis court.

Guests of the Curran's were Mrs. T. H. King and Tunis King of Los Angeles, Eugene Gomes of Beverly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Curran and children, Bernardine and Mickey Curran, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curran, Jr., Miss Lolita Mead, James Adams, Miss Esther Curran of Beverly Hills, and the Misses Frances, Alleen, and Catherine Curran of the home. Mrs. Frank Mead joined the group in time to see the fireworks.

SURPRISE PARTY IS GIVEN FOR MISS REDMOND

As a lovely gesture to her daughter, Miss Eleanor J. Redmond, who celebrated her birthday anniversary on the eve of her departure for an extended vacation trip, Mrs. E. M. Redmond was hostess at a luncheon party Saturday afternoon.

The Redmond home at 2321 Spurgeon street, the locale of the party, was decorated with gladiolus, white roses, white sweet peas, and carnations from the garden of the home. Favors of suitcases in pastel shades carried out the pastel color scheme.

Included in the surprise party were a group of girls associated with Miss Redmond in the department of social welfare office where she is employed as supervisor of the intake department for state aid. Guests were Mrs. Evelyn Wilson, Mrs. Geraldine Little, Miss Nina May Miller, Mrs. Mary Douglas, Miss Margaret Nichols and Miss Lila Hodges.

Miss Redmond left yesterday morning on her vacation. She will travel to Seattle by train with a brief pause in San Francisco and Portland. From Seattle a boat trip will take her to Vancouver, B. C., where she will again board a train for an excursion through the Canadian Rockies with stops at Banff and Lake Louise. She will return by train through the Middle West.

MINIHANS ARE HOME FROM PLEASANT TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Minihan of 301 Stanford street have returned to Santa Ana after a three-months holiday trip throughout the United States.

En route East they visited in Arizona, stopped at the Carlsbad caverns, New Orleans and Bayminette, and Birmingham. After visits in Charleston and Washington, D. C. (scene of their marriage several years ago) they continued to New York City and Cape Cod, where they spent some time. Trips into Canada, to Niagara falls, and the White mountains, were followed by a visit in Cleveland during the Great Lakes exposition. The Minihans took in the national parks on their way back to Santa Ana, and a highlight of their trip was a stop at Oakland, where Mrs. Minihan's favorite family reunion was held. She is the only sister of eight brothers, one of whom is H. B. Weir of Santa, who, with his wife and children, Thomas and Geraldine, were also present at the affair.

SLABAUGHS HAVE BUSY WEEK

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh have been enjoying a succession of pleasant events during the past week. No sooner had their house guest, Claude Gillespie of Omaha, Neb., left them to go to Los Angeles, than their daughter, Virginia, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Holsington, Jr., of Beverly Hills, arrived. The Holsingtons celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary Sunday with a little dinner at Laguna Beach.

On Saturday evening the Slabaughs entertained a little group of friends at a picnic party in their trailer, which they had driven to Irvine park. Incentive was the birthday anniversary of Dr. J. E. Paul, who with Mrs. Paul and Dr. Paul's wife, Harry Zaiser, completed the party.

BARBECUE PARTY HONORS GUEST

A barbecue party in the cool outdoor living room of the George A. Armstrong home, 209 Roe drive, last night honored Miss Agnes Stuart of Chicago, who is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clark of Lemon Heights were other guests at the impromptu dinner party. Miss Stuart will leave Santa Ana this week-end for a short visit in Glendale after which she will journey north to Vancouver, B. C., before traveling inland to her home.

GROUP ENJOYS PICNIC SUPPER

Mrs. C. D. Brown of Red Hill avenue entertained a party of friends and relatives Monday evening at a picnic dinner. The younger guests enjoyed fireworks during the afternoon, and later the whole group went to Huntington Beach to see the display.

Those who were present for the good time were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fries and son James, A. T. M. Brown and son C. D. Brown, Jr., all of Anaheim, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown and daughter Julene of Burbank.

SERVE FRUIT PLATTER

A fruit plate is a colorful summer dessert. It may be made by adding small bunches of grapes to cherries (on stems), pineapple slices, and sliced peaches. Attractively arranged on a shallow glass dish these fruits have a cooling appearance. They may be garnished with grape leaves and should be served cold.

Feting a group of eastern visitors who are visiting their relatives in Santa Ana (members of the Nalle, Crawford and Hays families), Mrs. R. N. Alexander and her sister, Mrs. Alex Brown, judge, yesterday entertained luncheon in the home of the latter on North Main street. Mrs. George Hogan, Mrs. George Hogan Jr., and Miss Lila Hogan, all of McClainsboro, Ill., were their honored guests.

Others seated at the pretty table, who held high scores, were Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, Mrs. Jennie Crawford, Mrs. Pauline Clark and Mrs. Crawford Nalle (Florence Brownbridge).

Mrs. Charles Nalle is taking her guests to the Huntington Library today, and the group will lunch in San Marino.

Mrs. Brownbridge was hostess earlier in the week, with Mr. Brownbridge, to members of their monthly bridge club. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams, who held high scores, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Skirvin, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Tradewell, Mrs. Jean Metzgar and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bailey.

CALVARY WOMEN HAVE ALL-DAY MEETING

Mrs. A. P. Koentopp was hostess yesterday to the executive board of the Calvary church Missionary society. A pleasant all-day session was enjoyed, with a covered dish luncheon served at noon.

Morning devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Donald Kyle, and Mrs. John Sutherland presided over the affair. The group will meet again July 20 at the Santa Ana Gardens home of Mrs. Eugene Griset.

Present yesterday were Mrs. Anna Hamer, Miss Glenna Abbott, Mrs. Ida Meikel, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Louis J. Gall, Mrs. John Maret, Mrs. Joe Hazen, Mrs. James Peterson, Mrs. Edwin Hammel, Mrs. John Sutherland, Mrs. Donald Kyle, Mrs. William Breckenridge, Mrs. A. P. Koentopp, Mrs. E. E. Lindgren and the following guests: Mrs. W. S. Bohman, Miss Mary Wilson and Miss Anne Thome.

PATRIOTIC HUES DECORATE DINNER TABLE

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schroeder of 2227 North Lincoln street entertained Sunday evening at an informal dinner. A delicious menu was served at a long table laid under the leafy arbor, with a patriotic color scheme used in decoration.

A center bowl of red and white sweet peas and blue cornflowers was flanked by white pottery candle-holders bearing tall blue taper.

Guests were relatives of Mrs. Schroeder, including her mother, Mrs. Anna Kubitz, Miss Helene Kubitz, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kubitz, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kubitz and children Madeline and Arelene, James Noe, and the Schroeder children, Leola, Kenneth, Dwight and Lowell.

STAY-AT-HOME CAMP STARTED BY GIRL SCOUTS

A novel "stay-at-home" camp will be started tomorrow for all girls over 10 years of age by the Girl Scouts, with meetings each Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. in the Little Scout house, 811 Riverine street.

Arrangements will be in charge of Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Mrs. R. C. Harris, and Mrs. R. R. Russick. The camp will be open to all girls, whether members of the Girl Scouts or not.

Meetings will be held twice each week during July with all-day programs featuring dramatics, crafts, games, and other events similar to those in the real Scout camp. All activities will be under regular professional leadership.

BRIDAL COUPLE TO LIVE AT BALBOA

Miss Alma Frances Crowell, daughter of the F. W. Crowells of 1417 Durant street, became the bride Saturday evening of Virgil Nathan Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Price of Chalis, Idaho.

The bride wore a smart navy ensemble with dusty pink accents and was attended by her mother, Her brother, Clifton C. Crowell, was best man, and her father gave her in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Price will make their home for the summer at Balboa where he is in business. She is employed at the court-house.

Mary Stoddard Young Widow Encounters Difficulty In Finding Work Without Experience

Today we have a letter from a young woman who is trying desperately to make a living for her baby daughter, doing work which she likes and for which she is now well equipped. Her difficulty is that she has had no previous experience and is having a great deal of trouble finding employment. The best advice I can give is to keep up your courage and keep trying. All business men are not hardboiled and you probably have not looked in the right places for beginner's work. Have you asked at the school where you received your business training for their assistance in job hunting?

Here is the letter from Down-Hearted:

My Dear Miss Stoddard: I have been an interested reader of your column for several years and now I am wondering if your readers could give me some advice or encouragement.

Here is my problem: About a year ago I was left with a baby girl and no money to care for her with. I was nearly desperate but I made up my mind I was going to support her and do it well. I found a job in a home where I was able to keep her with me. My salary was small but by denying myself all but the bare necessities I managed to save enough money to take a business course. When I sent my baby to a relative who was anxious to have her, it nearly broke my heart but I knew it was the only way.

During these months I have studied hard and faithfully and started looking for a position I when my teacher told me I could start looking for a position I started out in great glee.

But what a disappointment to me! At employment offices where I went to make application the first question asked was "How much experience have you had?" When I had to answer that I had none the matter seemed to be closed as far as they were concerned. Many places would not even take my name. And I met with the same thing in business offices to which I applied. But, Miss Stoddard, how can I get experience if no one will give me an opportunity to get that experience?

I also learned, much to my chagrin, that the fact that I had once been married was against my getting a job. The fact that I am the sole support of my child carried no weight whatsoever. If I lie and say I haven't been married it would put me in a bad light if, and when the existence of my baby was discovered. Also I don't think anyone likes being lied to. I don't want to work with my head rather than with my hands. I have had a good education and since childhood have been an inveterate reader so that I am well able to converse intelligently on the latest books and world news. Don't these things count for anything, Miss Stoddard?

Perhaps this letter will not contain enough of interest to print but at least I got it "off my chest" so to speak.

In closing may I wish you every success with your column. A DOWN-HEARTED READER.

I worked so hard for this chance and I want little Janice back with me so badly that it seems almost too much to bear that I can't get started somewhere. It would seem that I have only wasted my time and what is really tragic, my money.

What about our business men, Miss Stoddard? Are they so awfully hard-boiled that they haven't time for a beginner? Weren't any of our beginners? I don't want to go back to housework for some one else. There is no future in that and I can't do anything in a material way for my little daughter at such work. Besides I'm intelligent enough to want to work with my head rather than with my hands. I have had a good education and since childhood have been an inveterate reader so that I am well able to converse intelligently on the latest books and world news. Don't these things count for anything, Miss Stoddard?

Plunge Party Enjoyed By Twenty

Meeting at the Orange plunge last evening, twenty members of the junior branch of the Young Ladies' institute held a combined wiener bake and swimming party.

A short business meeting preceded the swimming party, with Miss Mary Towler, president of the group, presiding. A few members of the senior branch of the institute were present, including Mrs. C. R. Sackerson, Mrs. L. T. Towler and Mrs. E. J. Vosskuhl.

Among the younger women present were the Misses Mary Towler, Hortense Taylor, Louise Taylor, Betty Mae Engleman, Emmy Kloost, Caroline Borchard, Wilma Borchard, Cecilia Teles, Helen Johnson, Peggy Johnson, Yvonne Sackerson, Phyllis Sandon, Marilyn Maag, Vernice Steigers, Caroline Harvey, Virginia Mary Huelskamp and Betty Vosskuhl.

Use Fruits Or Juice For Breakfasts

By JUDITH WILSON

Breakfast menus may vary all the way from a hurried snack of toast and coffee to the hearty breakfasts served in camp that includes meat or eggs and potatoes and more nearly resembles a dinner menu. More often they are a happy medium—neither too light nor too heavy.

Whatever the kind of menu you plan, however, there should be at least one thing included in all of them—a good supply of fresh fruit or fruit juice. Oranges and fresh orange juice probably lead in popularity as a breakfast fruit or beverage, but you needn't serve it alone morning after morning.

It combines surprisingly well with other fruit juices—canned apricot juice, canned cherry juice, grape juice, grapefruit juice or pineapple juice. To be sure that it is well chilled, store your oranges and the fruit juice with which you expect to combine them in your refrigerator until you are ready to use them. Orange juice should never be allowed to set after squeezing.

Serve one of the following fruit juice combinations as a morning eye-opener:

ORANGE-BERRY COCKTAIL

Use homemade or bottled cranberry juice. Fill chilled glasses half full of the cold cranberry juice. Then very carefully pouring down the side of the glass add fresh squeezed orange juice. The two juices will remain in distinct layers, giving an attractive appearance as well as a delightfully tart flavor. This makes a nice appetizer for any meal.

ORANGE-GRAPFRUIT JUICE

Combine equal parts orange juice and grapefruit juice sweetened slightly with sugar syrup if necessary. Pour over cracked ice and serve immediately.

MIXED ORANGE ALE

This is good on hot afternoons. Add finely minced mint leaves to fresh squeezed orange juice. Add 1½ cups well chilled pale dry ginger ale to every 2 cups orange juice. Serve in tall glasses with ice and garnish with mint leaves.

Liechtenstein, a principality on the Upper Rhine between Austria and Switzerland, has an area of only 65 square miles.

Ideal Wife Interested In Mate's Work

NEW YORK.—Interest in her husband's business and an ability to discuss it with him are essentials for the ideal wife, believes Peter Koch de Gooreynd, prominent clubman, sportsman, inventor and composer from London, England.

Mr. de Gooreynd who arrived in this country a short time ago, tackled the subject of wives, ideal and otherwise, under a light supper in his Waldorf-Astoria suite.

Surveying his eggs Boulangerie with approval he said, "Of course it's splendid for a woman to cook, sew and darn her husband's socks, but it's my opinion that her patience in listening to her husband expound, and her intelligent understanding of what he says will go further toward a successful marriage."

Mr. de Gooreynd said he could name at least six young wives who would not permit their husbands to discuss business "outside business hours" and confessed the subject was completely boring and unintelligible to them.

Laughing, the 31-year-old inventor said, "I shouldn't brag about my wife, but it is a fact, she takes as much interest in my work as I."

That is saying something, for Mr. de Gooreynd is the head of 28 companies altogether, including Peter Maurice, Ltd., the largest music distributors in England and his newest, Combined Opticians, Ltd. It was to start an American branch of the latter that prompted this visit. His first was in 1926 when he visited his brother-in-law, M. J. Ciechanowski, who at that time was Polish ambassador to Washington.

Mr. de Gooreynd was born at the family seat, Chateau de Gooreynd in Belgium. He was brought up in England and attended Eton and Oxford, where he just managed to make his grades.

After he was graduated, however, he designed and built a model which won the Wakefield International cup for the best model airplane. Soon after that he designed an attachment to a piano which records whatever is played on the piano. This was to facilitate his composing, since although a gifted player, he cannot read music.

His latest invention is the much talked of "unbreakable glass," which in reality is a perfectly clear plastic, one-half the weight of glass, and amenable to molding, thereby excellently suited for lenses. For this reason many scientists now say that it is apt to revolutionize the glass industry.

"Perhaps it's because I do have so many businesses and consequently must spend so much of my time talking about them that I know how much a man can appreciate his wife's interest and help," said Mr. de Gooreynd.

His wife is the former Joan Douglas, cousin of the Marquis de Queensbury.

Good Times for You If You Read Palms

LOVE, MONEY, POWER? What fascinating tales palms tell! And how fascinating you are to your friends if you can read their palms. It's simple to know how, too.

Begin with your own hands. Is the Head Line longer in the right hand than in the left one? If it is, congratulations! The left hand shows the qualities you were born with, the right hand what you've done with them—and the long Head Line in the right hand says you've done well!

And the Heart Line. Does it run across the entire palm in your left hand—but is short in the right one? You've conquered a too affectionate, jealous nature.

Or is it richer you want? A long fourth finger says you'll make money easily. A star below the first finger says you'll have power.

The other lines and stars in your palm? Each one has a meaning which our 32-page booklet explains. Fun to learn them.

TWAIN CLASSIC FOR WALKER'S

Mark Twain's immortal classic, "The Prince and the Pauper," tops the screen fare offered at Walker's theater for the remainder of the week beginning Thursday. The other feature on the program is "The Thirteenth Chair."

The famous Mark Twain story concerns an English prince, heir to the throne, and a pauper boy from the London slums, both born on the same day, and whose lives become entangled because of their close resemblance.

Their roles are portrayed by the March twins, Billy and Bobby. Errol Flynn portrays a swash-buckling swordsman who helps to manipulate the careers of the lads who change clothes, and Claude Rains is the villainous Earl of Hertford.

Others cast are Barton MacLane, Alan Hale, Robert Adair, Henry Stephenson, Halliwell Hobbes, Phyllis Barry, Fritz Leiber, Montagu Love and Harry Beresford.

Based on Bayard Veiller's play, "The Thirteenth Chair" is a murder mystery, in which a killing takes place during a seance. Madge Evans and Thomas Beck are co-starred, with Dame May Whitty, Elissa Landi, Henry Danvers, Lewis Stone, Janet Beecher, Ralph Forbes, Holmes Herbert, Heather Thatcher and Charles Trowbridge in the cast.

To round out the bill the theater will show a colored cartoon, "The Hound and the Rabbit."

Hollywood SIGHTS and SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — I'm not the man who knew Coolidge, and I wasn't there to hear Lincoln make his Gettysburg address. But I'll give up my claim to intimacy with fame, no sir! Because I've just met the man who gave Constantine Bennett's ghost a bath.

And I'll go down saying it hasn't changed him. He's only 31, but he's quiet in an efficient sort of way, and he treats Miss Bennett's ghost as an impersonal, purely technical problem.

His name is Roy Scavright, and he's been in pictures 17 years, some 14 of them in the special effects department he now heads. After 14 years in that department, a man treats a ghost as casually as he would any other problem.

None of it is done with mirrors, and only a little with fine, invisible wire. When the invisible ghosts hand Topper his hat and cane, that's wire work.

BLACK LINES VANISH
When Miss Bennett's ghost showers, and you see the water dashing against an invisible body, the soap dancing unsupported, a towel going through the motions even as yours and mine of a morning, and an invisible body leaving wet footprints on a bath mat—that's trick photography.

From what Scavright told me of the accomplishments of his associates, Frank Young and Bill Draper, I know they're to be hailed as pioneers in eliminating the usual black lines around a tricked object which cry out its fakery. Miss Bennett's ghost's towel, for instance, is not outlined in black at all.

Stars in New West Coast Film

POWELL FILM ENDS TONIGHT

Dick Powell's new starring vehicle, "The Singing Marine," shows for the last time tonight at the Broadway theater along with a second feature, "The Devil Is Driving," starring Richard Dix.

"The Singing Marine" is a story about a "leather-neck" who leaps to fame and fortune because of his singing, but who forgets his friends at the barracks and his sweetheart when money turns his head. He is sent to China with his company, and there gets a chance to perform a heroic feat and save a comrade, which restores him in the regard of his fellow Marines and Doris Weston.

There are six tuneful song numbers in the film, which has a cast including Hugh Herbert, Allen Jenkins, Larry Adler, the harmonica champion, Les Dixon, a centric dancer, and Veda Ann Borg.

In the dynamic production, "The Devil Is Driving," Dix plays a young lawyer who perjures testimony in defense of a young war-reel charged with manslaughter in connection with drunken driving. He wins the case, but has cause to regret it when he is elected district attorney and finds himself faced with the job of prosecuting the same boy, Joan Perry plays a newspaper reporter and supplies the love interest.

Tomorrow the Broadway will open with a new show, presenting one of the outstanding photoplays in many years, "Manhattan Melodrama," starring Charles C. Calk, William Powell and Myrna Loy, and "Sing and Be Happy," starring Tony Martin and Dixie Dunbar.

DRAMA, FARCE AT WEST COAST

"They Gave Him a Gun," powerful new drama with Spencer Tracy, Gladys George and Franchot Tone in the leading roles, opens today at the West Coast theater. The second picture on the double bill is the new Jack Haley comedy, "She Had to Eat."

"They Gave Him a Gun" deals with the effect of war on the psychology of youth, tracing the transition of a kindly young clerk who goes through war into a dangerous post-war racket. Tone starts as a clerk, is drafted for the war and taught that in warfare "all men are equal with guns in their hands." This maxim leads him to crime and disaster in later life.

Tracy has a compelling and sympathetic role as the devoted friend of Tone, who seeks to turn him from the dangerous course his life has taken after the war. The romantic interest is furnished by Miss George, who plays the role of a war-time nurse.

After the hilarious spree that "Wake Up and Live," the Walter Winchell-Ren Bernie musical comedy hit, Jack Haley outdoes himself in riotous performance in "She Had to Eat," a comedy featured by new melodies, bright and sparkling dialogue and unique comedy situations. Rochelle Hudson and Arthur Treacher have leading roles.

Selected short subjects on the program include a new Mickey Mouse cartoon in color, "Mickey's Inventors," and World News events.

Playwright Hurt By Two Accidents

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Preston Sturges, playwright and scenarist, was confined to his home today with injuries resulting from a pair of accidents.

Attempting to lift a heavy trunk, Sturges dropped it and broke the arch of his right foot. Hobbling about on crutches, he slipped and thrust his left arm through a window. The laceration required six stitches.

He had just finished writing a screen play called "Easy Living."

'Drunkard Starts Its Fifth Year

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Starting of the fifth year at the Theater Mart here of the play, "The Drunkard," was celebrated last night with a ceremony of burying a copy of the script under a corner of the theater building.

When Patty Lou Palmer, stenographer in the National Insurance Company, becomes engaged to the wealthy Dale Northcutt, she makes an enemy of Mardell Gray, the beautiful but hard-boiled office manager, who has set her cap for Dale. Mardell schemes to turn him into trouble. Dale is the son of the head of the Northcutt Construction Company, which is expected to give National the business of underwriting the bond on a big dam project. Mardell, bribed by a rival insurance company, makes changes in National's bid for the business, with the result that it goes to the rival company. She then plants evidence incriminating Patty Lou as the "traitor." Chet Brownell, bond writer for National, who was counting desperately on getting this business, shoots and seriously wounds himself. Everyone blames Patty Lou's supposed treachery for the tragedy. Meanwhile, Dale, knowing nothing about all this, is preparing to rush out of town on urgent business.

you must come right over to my apartment.
"Good Lord, Mardell! What do you mean? Patty Lou is all right, isn't she? Answer me!" called Patty Lou, and the janitor said some one got shot. For heaven's sake, tell me! Is Patty Lou?

"Oh, nothing like that," Mardell reassured him. "Come over right away and I'll tell you all about it."

IT WAS too bad Dale couldn't see Mardell's smile of satisfaction as she hung up. She had been wondering just how to contact Dale without arousing suspicion, and here he had played right into her hands. Perfect! She had always been lucky.

She ran into her dressing room and began tossing things about. As she started to change into another dress, she paused. That new rose negligee with the mules to match—it did things for her. Why not wear it? She could pretend to be utterly worn out with all the day's excitement. She really was upset about Chet Brownell. Darned fool! Had to be messy when her plans were working so well.

She hastily removed her rouge. Better to look a bit subdued when she told her story. A few minutes later, she regarded her slim, pale self with satisfaction. Gazing into the full-length mirror, she moved this way and that, with panther like grace. How could Dale have eyes for shabby little Patty Lou? Men were so dumb!

It was not long before Dale arrived. He was impatient.
"Tell me quickly what this is all about," he said. "What's happened, and where is Patty Lou?" I've got to see her, and I've only an hour."

"An hour! What do you mean?"
Mardell was annoyed. A girl, even in a forty-dollar negligee, could not exert much influence on a man who was in such an obvious rush.

"I'm catching a plane for Colorado," Dale said jerkily. "I want to see Patty Lou before I go. If I don't—if I miss her—will you tell her I tried to? Tell her."

"Dale—wait a minute."
Mardell moved to the mantel, leaning upon it gracefully.
"I'll tell Patty Lou anything you wish, but first you must know"—her pause was dramatic—"that she is guilty of being a traitor to her own office. It's about that bond. She changed our bid—gave information to Great American. Chet Brownell shot himself over the loss of that business. If he dies, your Patty Lou has blood on her hands."

"Shut up!" Dale shouted. "I don't know why you involve Patty Lou in this, but I know you're wrong!"

He was advancing toward Mardell, a savage expression on his face. For a moment, she thought he was going to strike her.
"Dale! Dale, darling!" she yelled. "I hate—I hate to tell you this. It will break your heart. Oh! I hate to do it! But we have proved Patty Lou guilty. And tomorrow, something almost as bad will be proved. She's a thief—a common thief!"

(The characters in this serial are fictitious)

HE looked up Mardell's number and gave it to the operator. The call was completed at once. "Mardell, this is Dale. Could you—"

"Why, how nice to hear your voice! How—"
"I called," Dale interrupted, "to ask if you could tell me whether Patty Lou went directly home from the office today."
"Oh-h-h-h." Silence a moment.
"Then you haven't heard."
"Heard what?" Dale barked.
"About Patty Lou, Oh, Dale..."

LEAPFROG ON THE RACE TRACK...

Like little bugs on wheels, midget racers spun around a Detroit track one day in 1935, hitting speeds from 80 to 100 miles an hour. Curly Mills, of Los Angeles, at the wheel of car No. 18 was riding high. Weaving in and out, he was doing about eighty when he hit a turn, skidded, and felt his car leap from the track. Along side was car No. 43 with Jimmy Prock, of Detroit, at the wheel. Up and over Prock and his racer soared aerial-minded Miller's car, down on the track it bounced, then continued onward as though nothing had happened.

LOVESICK NELSON...

Had it not been for the level head and persuasive ability of one of Horatio Nelson's brother officers, the English navy would have lost its greatest figure, the hero of Trafalgar. On leaving Quebec in 1782, Nelson visited an inn where he met and fell in love with a girl named Simpson, a name peculiarly fated to affect English history about a century and a half later in amazingly similar circumstances. With his ship ready to sail, Nelson made up his mind to desert rather than leave his love behind. A brother officer in whom he confided his plans managed to argue him out of it and Nelson gave up his "Maid of the Inn" to sail on to his glorious destiny.

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Did anyone ever read a correspondence school ad that didn't convince him he could be president of the company within a few years? No, but McMinigle McMonacle of West Tustin, decided he didn't want to be president of the company. He figured dodging taxes would be easier if he stayed on as janitor.

Lacy Squares Form Exquisite Cloth

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Use One Or Both Repeated in Cloth Spread or Scarf

PATTERN 5815
Let this lovely pattern make you decide that you must have lace for your table! With crocheted hook and some string, you simply make a number of "repeats" of each of the two "key" squares (one may be used exclusively if you prefer). Join them in "checker-board" fashion. Here's true elegance without extravagance, for the same two filet patterns may also be used for scarf, spread or pillow. It's ideal Summer work. In pattern 5815 you will find instructions and charts for making the squares shown; an illustration of them and of the stitches used; material requirements.
To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. 5th street. Be sure to write your name, address and pattern number.

Should File Complaints at Sacramento

Since we first urged that citrus standardization laws be rigidly enforced, enough frozen fruit has been hurled our way, metaphorically speaking, to start a by-products plant.

But the more we look into the matter, the more convinced we become that the standardization laws are wise.

Back in 1922, following the freeze—a rancher friend tells us—the same clamor for easy inspection broke loose.
Authorities gave way to pressure, or couldn't handle the rush, and as a result thousands of boxes of bad fruit were shipped East.

It took four years—we are informed—to get California fruit back to first choice with disgraced eastern housewives.

The growers themselves asked for the present stan-dardization laws. They considered the edicts beneficial at the time they were enacted.

If they now don't like the regulations and think it would be better to change them, complaints should go to Sacramento and not to local authorities who are only doing their sworn duty in culling out frozen fruit.

New York must feel rather subdued. Her Mrs.
Andrus has been beaten in the Wimbledon tournament by Jadenja Jedrejeowski. Just think of the nervous strain in batting a ball at a woman with all that name.

Office Boys in the Senate

Probably a lot of senators think that Democratic Leader Robinson of Arkansas is an old meanie because he didn't let them have the day off to see an all-star ball game—but we say, thank heaven for Joe Robinson.

With the most important issue of the year—the court reorganization plan—up for discussion, there are still some senators who want to go out and drink pop at a ball game. Imagine!

The incident casts an interesting sidelight on the inner operations of some of the brains which represent us at Washington.

Either these senators pulled the old office boy excuse in order to dodge the court issue, or they really felt that it was more important for them to attend a ball game than to attend to business.

Whichever it was, it was wrong. If congress would pay more serious attention to efficient and economical government and less attention to baseball, this country wouldn't be in the fix it is today.

There'll be no fan dancers at the New York world's fair, says Manager Whelan. Evidently he wants to be the whole show himself.

$250,000 a Day to Look for Earhart

It costs the taxpayers of this fair land just $250,000 a day to hunt for Miss Earhart and her navigator lost somewhere in the South seas, a press dispatch estimates.

The quarter of a million dollars goes to pay the daily wages of the officers and men on the many warships and planes which are engaged in the search.

Their pay would run on anyhow, of course, whether they were looking for Amelia or resting in port—but probably there wouldn't be so much wear and tear on the equipment and so much burning of oil and gasoline.

If the U. S. A. has to conduct many more expensive searching parties like this one, President Roosevelt had better arrange to sell more bonds to the banks and run up the national debt.

Or possibly it would be a better idea—after Miss Earhart is found, and all of us pray that she is—to warn other stunt fliers who try to cross the ocean in land planes that they either stay at home or hop at their own risk.

Why we prefer a democracy: 22 more "spies" have been executed in Soviet Russia.

Hospital Plan for the Average Family

For the small sum of 80 cents a month, you are entitled to the benefits of about $125 worth of hospital service a year—in case of need—at St. Joseph's hospital under the new state approved plan which will go into operation at that institution next month.

The idea sounds like a sensible approach to meeting the expense which so often keeps needy sufferers from getting necessary and proper care.

It is rather suggestive of a plan said to exist in China, where the patient pays the doctor so long as his health is good, but cuts off the stipend if sickness comes.

Like insurance, it has certain definite advantages for the family which cannot afford to keep a large cash surplus on hand for medical emergencies.

Headline: "Judge Hears Argument in Union Suit." Probably the debate got hot.

Assessments Up, But Little Man Safe

County assessed valuations are up nearly $3,000,000, due for the most part to the addition of the big Seal Beach electric plant to the tax roll.

This is one case, thank goodness, where a jump in the assessment total won't crack down directly on the little taxpayer.

If President Roosevelt doesn't seek a third term, who do you suppose Governor Earle will support?

RED FACES IN SENATE

AS COURT BILL COMES UP

WASHINGTON.—Perhaps the senate debate over the Roosevelt supreme court proposal will run on and on as is now predicted. But if it does, then senators have an unsuspected capacity for taking punishment.

Unless the senate makes some special ground rules for this contest, such as declaring it an unfair trade practice to confront a senator with what he had previously said to the contrary, so many faces will be red that the senate is going to look like a convocation of boiled lobsters.

Undoubtedly the member best prepared for his ordeal is Senator Ashurst, chairman of the judiciary committee, whose name adorns the Roosevelt court bill. He has been so outspokenly aggressive on both sides of this question of enlarging the court that he has been compelled to make a virtue of necessity and has proudly designated himself the dean emeritus of inconsistency.

Recently he received a letter from a woman who wrote:
"Dear Senator: Permit me to congratulate you upon your supreme court stand." To which Senator Ashurst replied:

"My Dear Madam: Which stand?"

YOU FIGURE THIS ONE OUT

Only three years ago President Roosevelt, speaking in the West, was quoting to his political audience a tribute to the New Deal written by Senator Burke of Nebraska, now one of the most bitter foes not only of the court plan but of Roosevelt and his New Deal.

Not so many months ago, one Democrat who signed the committee report containing its stout defense of the supreme court was critical of the court. He was calling attention, among his friends, to some of the incredible things that had happened in the past. As, for instance, this freak decision by Taney:

"The portion of the judgment is affirmed by a divided court, and no opinion as to that point can therefore be delivered. As to the portion reversed, the majority who agreed in reversing are equally divided as to the ground on which the reversal should be placed, and as separate opinions would decide no principle of law (inasmuch as the court is equally divided) it is deemed unnecessary to show separate opinions that the grounds upon which respective members of the court agreed to reverse."

A FACE-SAVING JOB

The court debate is apt to be about as inconclusive as that.
There will be a great deal of important talk about principles and in the senate chamber, while back in the cloakrooms senators will be trying to dicker a further compromise that will save everyone's face, or as many as impossible of more important faces.

IT'S A G. O. P. FROLIC

The really complacent members are the Republicans. They have actually become smug, thinking about the prospect of the Democrats tearing each other limb from limb. They have the judiciary committee, who scarcely bother to be polite about it as they charge Roosevelt with attempting by deception to put over a scheme which, the report says, "violated every sacred tradition of democracy" and was a "vicious" and "utterly dangerous abandonment" of constitutional principles. By inference it charges Roosevelt with these things and almost constitutes a bill of impeachment charging Roosevelt with trying to establish a dictatorship.

Well, what the Republicans figure they can do with such an indictment as that, supported by seven members of the President's own party, you can guess for yourself. You can hear them on the stump now. "We Republicans don't say this. Roosevelt's own senators say it." All the Republicans have to do is to persuade the country to believe it.

Remarkable Remarks

SEA GIRT.—Wilson today expressed the opinion that the high cost of living is the burning issue of the hour and "At its heart lies the high protective tariff. It's the issue," he says, and he expects to cover it fully in his speech of acceptance of the nomination for the presidency on the Democratic ticket, and in every campaign speech.

Remarkable results with a new stabilizer devised by Glenn Martin and Roy Knabenshue have been attained by Martin while flying in the East. The practicability of the device has attracted the attention of other leading aviators and aerial authorities. At the Boston meet, Martin demonstrated the use of the stabilizer by shutting off his motor and gliding half a mile with a drop of less than 11 feet, a remarkable record.

C. C. Cravath, better known to sporting circles and among his friends as "Gavvy" Cravath, is doing fine stick work with the Philadelphia National ball team. At Boston yesterday he made four hits out of five times at bat, two of them being two-baggers. He made four of the 10 runs scored by his team in a game with the Boston club.

STOCKHOLM.—The opening of Ida Courtney of Seattle won the third heat in the 100 meters in 11 seconds.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—It is difficult to gauge an intricate European-Asiatic snarl at this distance, but certain military maneuvers have convinced some official observers that closely allied Germany and Japan are determined to precipitate war on Russia this year.

First significant maneuver was the sending of the German fleet from the Mediterranean to the Baltic, where it could strike at Russia. Sixteen German warships steamed north, passing through the English channel on the same day the Japanese bombarded the Russians in Siberia.

In other words, they had left the Mediterranean two days before the bombardment started, and at the specific moment Hitler had been screaming about naval reprisals against the Spaniards.

Second, Japanese bombarded and sank a Russian warship in the Amur river after the Soviet foreign office had given assurance that Russian troops would be withdrawn. The incident had all the earmarks of a deliberate attempt to provoke a clash.

Note—When the Germans marched into the Rhineland one year ago last March, the Japanese military and naval attaches in Washington knew about it five days in advance.

SQUEEZE RUSSIA
Piecing together these events with cable reports from Europe, there is official fear that the Germans and Japanese have decided that now is the time to squeeze Russia. Here are some of the important factors which make this the psychological time for Germany and Japan to strike:

1. Wholesale Soviet executions indicate something is gravely wrong in Russia. Eight of the Soviet's ablest generals have been shot. Whether these men were guilty or not, it leaves the army crippled. Reports also persist of widespread political unrest.

2. France, chief Russian ally, is in the throes of severe financial, economic crises. She would have a hard time coming to the rescue of her ally.

3. The British government has been served notice at the recent Imperial conference that the Dominions, although supporting the mother country in Western Europe or the Pacific, will not aid her in case of war in Central or Eastern Europe. This is too remote for the Australians, New Zealanders, South Africans or Canadians. They can't get aroused about it.

4. At the last election the Japanese military suffered their most overwhelming political defeat.
What they want is a good flagging campaign, especially against their traditional foe in Siberia. War would restore their lost prestige.

Note—It is quite possible that the Japanese military provoked the Amur river incident despite opposite instructions from the Japanese foreign office. They repeatedly ignored orders from home during the invasion of Manchuria in 1931-2.

Whether war comes now or not,
it seems certain that the above factors, plus two nations which seem bent on bloodshed, will bring major trouble sooner or later.

L. R. CHANDLER.

SAND BANKS
Incidentally, one of the Merry-Go-Rounders who sailed up the Amur river during the Japanese occupation in 1922, can state that the islands in dispute are mere sand-banks, and no more worth fighting for than the little patch of mud in the Potomac to which Teddy Roosevelt swam on a dare with his military aide, Col. Dan T. Moore.

DIPLOMATIC SPEED-UP
For years the somnolent state department has dozed through international disputes, taking its own sweet time about sending replies to foreign nations.

Now comes the revolution!
It came with the advent of Sumner Welles as under secretary of state. Members of the Western European division first realized it when Welles sent one of his drafting officers the outline of a note to be written and sent to a foreign government.

Welles had penciled a memo on the edge of the instructions: "The messenger will wait and bring back the note."

The drafting officer nearly fell off his chair. Ordinarily drafting officers—whose special job it is to draft diplomatic notes—spend about two days fussing over one missive.

But this time, while the colored messenger stood over his desk, the officer carried out Welles' instructions—in 30 minutes.

One Man's Opinion

By X REPORTER

4—Alaskan Series

—MT. WASHBURN

Just about this date Bradford Washburn and his group of hardy young mountaineers are making their try for the top of Mount Lu-ciana up in Alaska.

Mount Luciana is the highest unclimbed mountain on the North American continent. Brad Washburn is an up-and-coming young explorer who already has several Alaskan achievements to his credit, including the exploring and mapping of some unexplored, un-mapped territory in the Mt. St.
Elias region.

Young Mr. Washburn, who looks like a college youth but is actually a college professor (Harvard), has a doctor's degree hidden away in his knapsack but is careful never to show it in public.

Each summer finds him probing around in Alaska's high and snowy insides, to find what may be found. He was on my ship north as far as Cordova, Alaska, where he embarked to begin one of the strangest mountain-climbing stunts yet tried.

At Valdez Washburn and his little party of high-climbing zealots will pack their mountain equipment into an airplane and take it inland 150 miles to the foot of Mount Luciana.

Nothing so strange in that, except that their plane will be a ski-equipped plane—and there is no snow in Valdez in June or July.
They will load their plane lightly and will take off from the mud tidesflats at Valdez. They will land on snow near the base of Mount Luciana. From that point, onward and upward, they will use the traditional leg-power, and equipment of all mountain climbers.

The Duke di Abruzzi of Italy, a very wealthy man with a hobby of mountain climbing, brought a cumbersome expedition to America some years ago to climb Mount St. Elias.

The doughy duke made the grade and reached the top, although his retainers suffered greatly at having to carry his heavy equipment, including iron bedsteads, across the hard, snowy miles and up the mountainside.

The Italian saw from Mount St.
Elias several other high peaks,
and named them to suit his fancy.
One he named after the ship that brought him to America. That's the Lucania. Now I suppose that when—and if—Brad Washburn reaches the Lucania's summit, the name of the peak be changed to Washburn, which will mean more in future years than a duke's gondola.

What Other Editors Say

KEEPING THE DOGS HONEST

(Orange Daily News)

Governor Merriam's announcement that he will veto the dog racing bill is good but not unexpected news. The governor's viewpoint on public policy is essentially sane and the dog track bill has nothing to recommend it as contributing to the general welfare.

Indeed, there is much about Governor Merriam that thinking people will approve. Under his steady hand and in the face of a continuing relief load shouldered by the state, the budget has been balanced, so that outgo is less than income and deficits which he inherited are being steadily reduced.

It will be remembered that the governor was elected in a desperate contest with Sinclair and that he faced a legislature, the lower house of which was dominated by the doughy warriors of the Epic clan. He dealt with a legislature intent on discrediting him and he faced a constant threat of recall at the hands of his Epic opponents.

In the face of these handicaps
he has been able to steer a course that has brought the state safely through the financial crisis. He has restrained the factious elements and controlled the ultra-radicals who would have thrown affairs into chaos. He has done it quietly and without fanfare.

It is just to say that the governor has grown in stature with the sane people of the state. He has performed a difficult job efficiently and his capacity is being recognized.

OLD JOKE GOES BY BOARD

(Ventura County Star)

An old joke is destroyed by the new custom of giving Pullman cars geographical names contributed by places along the lines they are to serve. And now Southern Pacific improves on that by announcing a new Chicago train, "The Fortyniner," in which the sleepers will be christened "Donner Lake," "Angels Camp," "Gold Run," "James Marshall," "Captain John Sutter," "Joaquin Miller," "Bear Flag" and "California Republic."

Most of us grew up on the legend that a daughter of George Pullman was paid a huge salary for naming sleeping-cars, and that it was to her they owed the fanciest names ever encountered outside of an Octavius Roy Cohen story. Most of them were feminine, and several syllables long, and the legend dissipated one mystery only to substitute the new one of where Miss Pullman got them.

Travelers will sleep just as soundly and swear just as volubly in the washrooms of the "James Marshall" as they did of yore in the "Evangelina." The old names have gone to join tasseled hangers, ornately carved mahogany and Pinstrip gas lamps. People who remember when the start of a Pullman journey provided one of life's greatest moments will sigh.

There is a dreadful dearth of American dramatists.—John Gold-

NEW YORK.—One of America's most interesting journalistic callings is slowly reaching the vanishing point. Aside from a dozen Theatrical critics in New York, there are no reviewers save in the large cities such as Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and a few others. Movie critics have absorbed the jobs.

New York had fewer shows the past season than in 25 years. The usual summer revues—Ziegfeld's, Carroll's and White's—which proved the most spectacular openings for celebrity audiences of the year and offered the best talent, are no more. Gone forever.

There are predictions that next season the show list will shrink further. Perhaps three premieres a week at top. The theater is not dying completely. There is still much life. But no settling down more than ever before to the survival of the fittest.

It is advanced that there are no great stage showmen any more, such as Ziegfeld, Erlanger, Dil-lingham, Belasco. But the fact is there are—George Abbott, for instance—but many have been drawn to the sure rewards and the greater financial security of the Hollywood studios. Easier hours, easier living.

Apartment buildings in New York that have had difficulty in being refilled since the depression are those with many guest rooms.
The new idea is expressed by the Ralph Pultizers, who had their 60-room mansion turned into small apartments and rented a small apartment for their own use. The vogue for small apartments is frankly due to the guest pest. Rich folk were helpless with so much room when friends from other cities dropped in. Many large residences became almost like hotels.

There is a record of one home on Fifth avenue having 14 guests at one time, and was only ended when the owners fled precipitately to Europe after notifying all they were closing their establishment next day. Mary Brown Warburton's new palazzo in Palm Beach will have no guest room, and neither will Doris Duke's Hawaiian hacienda.

Washington street has an Albanian restaurant—patronized mostly by Albanians and a few uptown slummers. It is a replica of the native cafe and the food is displayed in steaming kettles in the dining room. There are some 20 varieties and the customer selects as many as he desires. Albanian bread is fluffy and gray and is broken into chunks to be sopped in the various stews. Al-banians are the poorest of all dunkers. One of the delicacies is finchios. These are giant vegetables suggesting the onion in shape but having a sweetish candly taste. At one of the tables
I saw a mustacheed Konrad Terevov-looking fellow who jot-ted down stray thoughts on a pad between eating and looking soufful. The waiter confirmed my obvious suspicion that he was a poet of the neighborhood who goes to various foreign cafes nightly to express himself in this fashion.

Harry Richman sends me a copy of the London High Hatter with a double page drawing of himself surrounded by such May-fairies as the Hon. Mrs. Cunningham Reid, Miss Mela Brand, Lady Plunkett, Lady Louis Mountbatten and Lady Inchapeco fluttering about in an adorable huddle while their husbands and beaux stand in the background bawling the mail in indignation. Thus the marcelled angel joins the handful of American entertainers who have cracked the British shell of reserve. A list that includes Tullah Bankhead, Elsie Janis, Sophie Tucker, Will Mahoney and Belle Baker.

Richman has had more rebounds from Broadway's assignments to oblivion than any other performer of his time. A dozen times I have heard the street's dictum: "Richman is through—all washed up." Yet in almost every instance he has come back stronger than ever.
For some unaccountable reason his airplane flight to Europe put him crosswise with the favoring Broadway winds. He was gently boiled several times at one of the floor shows. Then he went to London to compete with the crack artists drawn by the coronation furore. And already the cables report of his success have resulted in a build-up that puts him out front again. He can have his choice of jobs when he returns.

The maid who attends my manicure wants in a mid-town hotel broke out in a rousing laugh in the midst of her ministrations today. In such outbursts I always have a feeling I have put my vest on outside my coat or indulged some other absentmindedness.
"Anything the matter with me?" I asked quickly, reddening to the gills. She replied enigmatically with a chuckle: "You'll miss know." And I didn't miss a peek in every window mirror all the way home. Sometimes I think I'll put on an old wrapper
